DRILLING UPDATE

Dateline Resources Limited (ASX: DTR) ("Dateline" or the "Company") is pleased to confirm that the 8,000m drill program at the Company's 100%-owned Gold Links Project in Colorado commenced on schedule on 3 June.

Two drill rigs are testing the near surface extension of the Sacramento and 2150 veins both of which are located at the Northern section of the Gold Links project.

The program is for 41 exploration holes with the intention of defining a JORC compliant resource and building on historic data and previously reported drilling and sampling results at the Gold Links project.

Management Commentary

Managing Director Stephen Baghdadi commented: "After months of planning its good to commence our first systematic surface drilling program at the northern section of the Gold Links project"

About Dateline Resources Limited

Dateline Resources Limited (ASX: DTR) is an Australian publicly listed company focused on gold mining and exploration in Colorado, United States of America. The Company owns 100% of the Gold Links project located in Gunnison County

Gold Links is comprised of several contiguous historic gold mines that have been consolidated by the company. Gold Links has produced up to 150,000 oz of high-grade gold (see ASX announcement of 8 February 2019)

Mineralisation can be traced on surface and underground for almost 6km from the Northern to the Southern sections of the project. Well documented records indicate that there are large areas that remain untested at surface and little to no exploration has been done below the valley floor.

Dateline also owns the Lucky Strike and Mineral Hill permitted gold properties and has recommissioned a gold processing plant located at the Lucky Strike Mine. The Gold Links and the Lucky Strike are located approximately 50km apart
