The company advises that it will exhibit its range of substance abuse testing products at the 2005 Police Summit to be held in Melbourne this week (www.policessummit.com).

Following announcement last week of Harrington's agreement to acquire drug testing company, Sun Biomedical Laboratories Inc. of New Jersey, USA, Harrington will exhibit the extensive SaliSystems™ range of drug testing products.

Mr. Couper stated: "The Police Summit provides Harrington with the first public opportunity to formally present the SaliSystems™ suite of drug testing products from Sun Biomedical Laboratories.

In addition to the new drug testing products, the company will exhibit its development technology, the less-lethal electric ShockRounds bullets for use by police, customs and anti-terrorism personnel.
