LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dear Shareholder,

On behalf of the Directors of Deep Yellow Limited, I invite you to make a further investment in your Company.

The Company is pleased to offer all its shareholders a 1 : 2 non renounceable Entitlement Issue of 222,158,841 new shares at an issue price of 7.5 cents per share. The pricing has been set at 7.5 cents to provide an opportunity for all shareholders to participate in the capital raising. The issue is not underwritten, but the Directors have reserved the right to place any shortfall.

This prospectus sets out the details of the Entitlement Issue which will raise up to a maximum of $16,661,913. The exact amount of funds raised is dependant on the participation rate of shareholders and the Directors' ability to place any shortfall.

The past six months have been challenging and have seen a considerable transition for the Company as it has moved to a fully fledged uranium explorer. Be assured that your Directors are working diligently, reviewing a number of opportunities both within Australia and overseas. The most recent announcements relating to Matrix Metals Limited and Dominion Mining Limited both provide the Company with access to substantial packages of tenements prospective for uranium mineralisation in the Mt Isa (Queensland) and Western Gawler (South Australia) areas respectively.

These recent agreements, together with the Company's existing project areas, ensure that Deep Yellow now has access to some very prospective ground in Australia which should be conducive to the discovery and development of uranium deposits.

It is the Company's intention to continue down this strategic path of defining and acquiring prospective exploration ground both in Australia and offshore.

For those shareholders who are not aware of the dramatic correction in uranium prices over the last three years, it is worth repeating that the spot price for U_3O_8 has increased from US$9 per pound to $38.25 at present. This steady increase has been brought about by shrinking inventories and mine outputs, while consumption has been increasing due to improved reactor efficiencies. Predictions about global warming have again highlighted nuclear power's advantages over fossil fuel for use in power generation and more and more governments are embracing studies into the use of nuclear fuel as an alternative source of baseload power.

At the time of lodging this prospectus it was the intention of all your Directors to participate fully and to take up their maximum entitlement under this offer.

Accordingly, I encourage your participation in this Entitlement Issue. Should you wish to discuss any aspect of this capital raising please do not hesitate to contact myself, my fellow Directors or the Company secretary, Mark Pitts on (08) 9286 6999.

Yours faithfully

LEON PRETORIUS
Executive Chairman

1. The Company

1.1 Company Status

The Company is a uranium exploration company which holds numerous exploration licences and applications in the Northern Territory of Australia, Western Australia, Queensland and South Australia either in its own name or under agreement upon which it can prospect for uranium.

The Company has recently negotiated options for rights to explore for uranium on tenements held by Matrix Metals Limited in the Mt Isa region of Queensland and with Dominion Mining Limited in the Western Gawler region of South Australia.

The details relating to both these transactions were announced recently to the ASX.

The Company is at differing stages of negotiating access to commence exploration on the various tenements.

The purpose of this Entitlement Issue which will raise up to $16,661,913 if all shareholders subscribed, is to:

- provide working capital for further evaluation of the Company's Napperby Project;
- provide working capital for the Company's proposed exploration programmes on the Matrix Metals and Dominion Mining tenements where access has already been negotiated;
- ongoing target generation in the Tanami-Arunta Province and exploration of these as access is granted; and,
- general working capital and to enable the Company to make further acquisitions of prospective uranium areas.

2.8 Entitlement and Acceptance Form

Acceptance of a completed Entitlement and Acceptance Form by the Company creates a legally binding contract between the Applicant and the Company for the number of New Shares accepted by the Company. The Entitlement and Acceptance Form does not need to be signed to be a binding acceptance of New Shares.

If the Entitlement and Acceptance Form is not completed correctly it may still be treated as valid. The Directors' decision as to whether to treat the acceptance as valid and how to construe, amend or complete the Entitlement and Acceptance Form is final.

2.9 Allotment

The Company expects to issue the Shares on 31 March 2006. Holding statements in relation to the Shares are also expected to be dispatched on 31 March 2006. These dates may change at the Directors' discretion.

It is the responsibility of Applicants to determine their allocation prior to trading in the New Shares. Applicants who sell New Shares before they receive their holding statements will do so at their own risk.

2.10 Application Monies held on trust

All Application Monies received for the New Shares will be held in trust in a bank account maintained solely for the purpose of depositing Application Monies received pursuant to this Prospectus until the New Shares are issued. 2.13 Foreign Shareholders

The Offer is not being extended to any shareholders whose registered address is outside Australia or New Zealand. The Company is of the view that it is unreasonable to make the Issue to shareholders outside Australia and New Zealand, having regard to:

- the number of those shareholders;
- the number and value of New Shares to be offered to those persons; and
- the cost of complying with overseas legal requirements.

The Prospectus does not constitute an offer in any place in which, or to any person to whom, it would not be lawful to make such an offer other than for shareholders in Australia and New Zealand. The Company is not required to make offers under the Prospectus to shareholders other than in Australia and New Zealand. Where the Prospectus has been dispatched to shareholders domiciled outside Australia or New Zealand and where the country's securities code or legislation prohibits or restricts in any way the making of the offers contemplated by the Prospectus, the Prospectus is provided for information purposes only.

Shareholders resident in Australia or New Zealand holding shares on behalf of persons who are resident overseas are responsible for ensuring that taking up their Entitlement under the Issue does not breach regulations in the relevant overseas jurisdiction. Return of a duly completed Entitlement and Acceptance Form will be taken by the Company to constitute a representation that there has been no breach of those regulations.

2.14 Brokerage

The Company may pay a placement fee of a maximum of 5% (plus GST) of the amount subscribed (and accepted by the Company) to any holder of a financial services licence in respect of Shortfall Applications Forms bearing their stamp.

4. Risk Factors

Potential investors in the Company should be aware that subscribing for shares involves a number of risks. The risk factors outlined in this Section and elsewhere in this Prospectus should be carefully considered by investors when evaluating an investment in the Company. In addition, investors should appreciate that the value of shares and options on ASX may rise or fall depending on a range of factors beyond the control of the Company. This is especially the case with companies undertaking mining and exploration activities.

Any of the factors set out in this Section or any other factors identified in this Prospectus may materially affect the financial performance of the Company and the market price of the Shares. To that extent the Shares carry no guarantee with respect to the payment of dividends, return on capital or the price at which those Shares will trade on the ASX.

The Directors consider that an investment in the Company should be considered speculative due to:

- (a) the recent volatility in publicly listed entities on world stock markets generally, and of mining and exploration companies in particular; and
- (b) the speculative nature of mining and exploration activities.

While the Company plans to take prudent measures to safeguard from, or mitigate its exposure to these risks, many of the risks are outside of the Company's control.

There are a number of risk factors that investors should consider before deciding whether or not to invest in the New Shares. The principal risk factors include, but are not limited to, the following:

4.1 Risks specific to the Company

The current and future operations of the Company, including exploration, appraisal and production activities, may be affected by a range of factors, including:

- (a) Government Policy

The Federal Government is responsible for uranium mining in the Northern Territory and currently permits the mining and export of uranium under strict international agreements designed to prevent nuclear proliferation. The export of uranium is tightly controlled by the Federal Government through its licensing process and Australian uranium can only be exported to those countries who undertake to use it for peaceful purposes.

The Queensland State Government has a policy opposing the mining of uranium. Whilst the Company is not prevented from exploration and evaluation of their uranium deposits, the development of the uranium deposits is dependant on a change in Queensland State Government policy in relation to uranium production. There can be no assurance that this policy will change in the future and this may adversely affect the long term prospects for the Company.

At its conference in October, the South Australian branch of the ALP unanimously endorsed a platform motion that it continued to be opposed to new uranium mines and the expansion of the enrichment process. The South Australian Government has also passed legislation to prevent the use of sites in SA for the storage of intermediate or high level nuclear waste.

However, the South Australian Labor Government, Premier Mike Rann and his Minister for Minerals Development Mr Paul Holloway are strongly supporting the expansion of the Olympic Dam mine, which will allow the BHP/Billiton-run mine to quadruple its uranium output to become the largest uranium mine in the world.

Further, the Rann Government will not prevent the development of the Honeymoon mine, approved by the previous Liberal State Government, despite a technical breach of the 'three mines' policy. Premier Rann justifies the Honeymoon decision on the basis that stopping the mine suggests a degree of regulatory risk to investors in the resources sector.

South Australia is also home to Beverley, the only new uranium mine opened since the Coalition government was elected in 1996.

Although it is not in favour of new uranium mines in South Australia nor the storage of radioactive material, the South Australian Government continues to subsidise uranium exploration, offering some explorers a 50 percent rebate on drilling costs. It also supports uranium mining at current levels in South Australia, given its contribution to the economy.

The Western Australian Government has not enacted any legislation that expressly prohibits uranium mining in Western Australia. However, the current Western Australia State Government does have a policy opposing uranium mining. All mining leases granted since 22 June 2002 are subject to a condition which prohibits the mining of uranium. Whilst the Company is not restricted from exploration and evaluation of its tenements in Western Australia, any development would be contingent upon a change of Western Australian State Government Policy in relation to uranium production. There can be no assurance that the policy will change in the future and this may adversely affect the long-term prospects of the Company.

Investors should note that the Federal Labour Party (currently in opposition) 2004 platform was to prevent the development of any new uranium mines.

In addition future changes in Governments, regulations and policies may have an adverse impact on the Company.

(b) Approval Process

Uranium mining is subject to extensive regulation by State and Federal governments in relation to the exploration, development, production, exports, taxes, royalties, labour standards, occupational health, waste disposal, protection and rehabilitation of the environment, mine reclamation, mine safety, toxic and radioactive substances, native title and other matters. The cost of compliance with such laws and regulations will ultimately increase the cost of exploring, drilling, developing, constructing, operating and closing mines and other production facilities. These approvals are more rigorous than for mining of other metals. There is a risk that should economic deposits of uranium be discovered, the government approvals may not be granted, or may be significantly delayed or may make the deposit uneconomic.

(c) Competition from alternative energy and public perception

Nuclear energy is in direct competition with other more conventional sources of energy which include gas, coal and hydro-electricity.

Furthermore, any potential growth of the nuclear power industry (with any attendant increase in the demand for uranium) beyond its current level will depend upon continued and increased acceptance of nuclear technology as a means of generating electricity. The nuclear industry is currently subject to negative public opinion due to political, technological and environmental factors. This may have an adverse impact on the demand for uranium and increase the regulation of uranium mining.

One of the arguments in favour of nuclear energy is its lower emissions of carbon dioxide per unit of power generated compared to coal and gas. Alternative energy systems such as wind or solar also have very low levels of carbon emissions, if any, however to date these have not been efficient enough to be relied upon for large scale base load power. Technology changes may occur that make alternative energy systems more efficient and reliable.

(d) Environmental risks

Uranium mining is an industry that has become subject to increasing environmental responsibility and liability. The potential for liability is an ever present risk.

Exploration work will be carried out in such a way as to minimise the impact on the environment.

(e) Contractual Rights

The Company is not the registered holder on some of its tenements. As such the Company's rights to uranium are based on various contractual rights it has with the owners of the tenements.

The ability of the Company to exploit the uranium rights it has under various agreements, are partially dependant on the tenement owners ensuring that the tenements are maintained and kept in good standing. It is possible that the tenement owners may act in a manner which could effect the rights of the Company under the various contractual rights.

4.2 Mineral industry risks

(a) Exploration and development risks

Mineral exploration and mining are high-risk enterprises, only occasionally providing high rewards. In addition to the normal competition for prospective ground, and the high average costs of discovery of an economic deposit, factors such as demand for commodities, stock market fluctuations affecting access to new capital, sovereign risk, environmental issues, labour disruption, project financing difficulties, foreign currency fluctuations and technical problems all affect the ability of a company to profit from any discovery.

There is no assurance that exploration and development mineral interests owned by the Company, or any other projects that may be acquired in the future, can be profitably exploited.

(b) Operational risks

The operations of the Company may be disrupted by a variety of risks and hazards which are beyond the control of Deep Yellow, including environmental hazards, industrial accidents, technical failures, labour disputes, unusual or unexpected rock formations, flooding and extended interruptions due to inclement or hazardous weather conditions, fire, explosions and other incidents beyond the control of the Company.

These risks and hazards could also result in damage to, or destruction of, production facilities, personal injury, environmental damage, business interruption, monetary losses and possible legal liability. While the Company currently intends to maintain insurance within ranges of coverage consistent with industry practice, no assurance can be given that the Company will be able to obtain such insurance coverage at reasonable rates (or at all), or that any coverage it obtains will be adequate and available to cover any such claims.

(c) Metallurgy

Metal and/or mineral recoveries are dependent upon the metallurgical process, and by its nature contain elements of significant risk such as:

- Identifying a metallurgical process through testwork to produce a saleable metal and/or concentrate;

- Developing an economic process route to produce a metal and/or concentrate; and
- Changes in mineralogy in the ore deposit can result in inconsistent metal recovery, affecting the economic viability of the project.

(d) Resource estimates

Resource estimates are expressions of judgment based on knowledge, experience and industry practice. Estimates that were valid when made may change significantly when new information becomes available.

In addition, resource estimates are necessarily imprecise and depend to some extent on interpretations, which may prove to be inaccurate. Should the Company encounter mineralisation or formations different from those predicted by past drilling, sampling and similar examinations, resource estimates may have to be adjusted and mining plans may have to be altered in a way which could adversely affect the Company's operations.

(e) Payment obligations

Under the mining and exploration tenements and licences and certain other contractual agreements to which the Company is or may in the future become a party, the Company is or may become subject to payment and other obligations. In particular, the Company has an obligation to meet the agreed expenditure budgets for each of its interests in Queensland and the Northern Territory. In addition where the Company is not the manager it is reliant on the manager to maintain the exploration tenements and licences in 'good standing' and the relevant Mines Departments expenditure commitments. Failure to meet these work commitments will render the tenement or licence liable to be cancelled.

(f) Commodity price volatility

It is anticipated that any potential future revenues derived from mining will primarily be derived from the sale of uranium. Consequently, any future earnings are likely to be closely related to the price of this commodity and the terms of any off-take agreements that the Company enters into.

Commodity prices fluctuate and are affected by numerous factors beyond the control of the Company. These factors include world demand for base metals, forward selling by producers, and production cost levels in major metal-producing regions.

Moreover, commodity prices are also affected by macroeconomic factors such as expectations regarding inflation, interest rates and global and regional demand for, and supply of, the commodity as well as general global economic conditions. These factors may have an adverse effect on the Company's exploration, development and production activities, as well as on its ability to fund those activities.

(g) Competition

The Company competes with other companies, including major mineral exploration and production companies. Some of these companies have greater financial and other resources than Deep Yellow and, as a result, may be in a better position to compete for future business opportunities. Many of the Company's competitors not only explore for and produce minerals, but also carry out refining operations and other products on a worldwide basis. There can be no assurance that the Company can compete effectively with these companies.

(h) Title

All of the Tenements in which the Company has or may earn an interest in will be subject to applications for renewal or grant (as the case may be). The renewal or grant of the term of each Tenement is usually at the discretion of the relevant government authority.

(i) Native Title

The Native Title Act recognises and protects the rights and interests in Australia of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people in land and waters, according to their traditional laws and customs. There is significant uncertainty associated with Native Title in Australia and this may impact on the Company's operations and future plans.

Native Title can be extinguished by valid grants of land (such as freehold title) or waters to people other than the Native Title holders or by valid use of land or waters. It can also be extinguished if the indigenous group has lost its connection with the relevant land or waters. Native Title is not necessarily extinguished by the grant of mining leases, although a valid mining lease prevails over Native Title to the extent of any inconsistency for the duration of the title.

Tenements granted before 1 January 1994 are valid or validated by the Native Title Act.

For tenements to be validly granted (or renewed) after 1 January 1994, the future act regime established by the Native Title Act must be complied with.

The existence of a Native Title claim is not an indication that Native Title in fact exists on the land covered by the claim, as this is a matter ultimately determined by the Federal Court.

The Company must also comply with Aboriginal heritage legislation requirements which require heritage survey work to be undertaken ahead of the commencement of exploration and mining operations.

(j) Joint Venture Risk

Where a joint venture partner does not act in the best commercial interest of the joint venture, it could have a material adverse effect on the interests of the Company.

Furthermore, the Directors are unable to predict the risk of:

- (i) financial failure, non compliance with obligations or default by a participant in any joint venture to which the Company is, or may become, a party; or
- (ii) insolvency or other managerial failure by any of the contractors used by the Company in its exploration activities; or
- (iii) insolvency or other managerial failure by any of the other service providers used by the Company for any activity.

(k) Environmental

The Company's projects are subject to Federal Australian, Northern Territory, Queensland, South Australian, Western Australian Law and regulations regarding environmental matters and the discharge of hazardous wastes and materials. As with all mining projects, the projects of the Company have a variety of environmental impacts. The Company intends to conduct its activities in an environmentally responsible manner and in accordance with applicable laws.

The cost and complexity of complying with the applicable environmental laws and regulations may prevent the Company from being able to develop potentially economically viable mineral deposits.

Although Deep Yellow believes that it is in compliance in all material respects with all applicable environmental laws and regulations, there are certain risks inherent to its activities, such as accidental spills, leakages or other unforeseen circumstances, which could subject the Company to extensive liability.

Further, the Company may require approval from the relevant authorities before it can undertake activities that are likely to impact the environment. Failure to obtain such approvals will prevent the Company from undertaking its desired activities. The Company is unable to predict the effect of additional environmental laws and regulations, which may be adopted in the future, including whether any such laws or regulations would materially increase the Company's cost of doing business or affect its operations in any area.

There can be no assurances that new environmental laws, regulations or stricter enforcement policies, once implemented, will not oblige the Company to incur significant expenses and undertake significant investments in such respect which could have a material adverse effect on the Company's business, financial condition and results of operations.

General Risks

(a) Securities investment

Applicants should be aware that there are risks associated with any securities investment. The prices at which the Company's Shares trade may be above or below the Offer price, and may fluctuate in response to a number of factors.

Further, the stock market has experienced price and volume fluctuations. There can be no guarantee that these trading prices and volumes will be sustained. These factors may materially affect the market price of the Shares, regardless of Deep Yellow's operational performance.

(b) Share market conditions

The market price of the Shares may fall as well as rise and may be subject to varied and unpredictable influences on the market for equities in general. Neither Deep Yellow nor the Directors warrant the future performance of the Company or any return on an investment in the Company.

(c) Economic Risk

Changes in the general economic climate in which the Company operates may adversely affect the financial performance of the Company. Factors that may contribute to that general economic climate include the level of direct and indirect competition against the Company, industrial disruption in Australia, the rate of growth of Australia's gross domestic product, interest rates and the rate of inflation.

(d) Future Capital needs and Additional Funding

The future capital requirements of the Company will depend on many factors including its business development activities. The Company believes its available cash and the net proceeds of this Offer should be adequate to fund its business development activities, exploration program and other Company objectives in the short term, as stated in this Prospectus.

Should the Company require additional funding there can be no assurance that additional financing will be available on acceptable terms, or at all. Any inability to obtain additional finance, if required, would have a material adverse effect on the Company's business and its financial condition and performance.

(e) Policies and Legislation

Any material adverse changes in Federal or State government policies or legislation of Australia or any other country that the Company has economic interests may affect the viability and profitability of the Company.

(f) Reliance on Key Personnel

The Company is reliant on a number of key employees. The loss of one or more of its key personnel could have an adverse impact on the business of the Company.

(g) Tax Reform

The Australian Government has indicated that it may introduce further tax reform. The introduction and scope of this further tax reform is uncertain. Until the precise nature of this reform is determined, the Company is not able to give any assurance as to the impact on its operating and financial performance.

5.5 Dividend policy

The Shares issued will rank pari passu in all respects (including dividend and bonus issues) with all existing Shares in the capital of the Company from the date of allotment and issue. As the Company is an exploration company, the Directors are not able to say when and if dividends will be paid in the future, as the payment of any dividends will depend on the future profitability, financial position and cash requirements of the Company. There have been no dividends paid by the Company up to the date of this Prospectus.

6. Additional Information

6.1 Rights attaching to New Shares

The New Shares issued by the Company will rank equally in all respects with the Company's existing Shares.

The rights attaching to Shares arise from a combination of the Company's Constitution, statute and general law.

Copies of the Company's Constitution are available for inspection during business hours at the Company's registered office. The clauses of the Constitution contain the internal rules of the Company and define matters such as the rights, duties and powers of its Shareholders and Directors, including provisions to the following effect (when read in conjunction with the Corporations Act or Listing Rules):

(a) Shares

The issue of shares in the capital of the Company and options over unissued shares by the Company is under the control of the Directors, subject to the Corporations Act, Listing Rules and any rights attached to any special class of shares.

(b) Transfer of Shares

The Company participates in the electronic share registration and transfer system known as CHESS operated by ASX under the Security Clearing House Business Rules. Accordingly, the Company will issue holding statements in lieu of share certificates. The Company will not charge any fee for registering a transfer of shares. The Directors may refuse to register a transfer of shares, or request SCH to apply a holding lock to prevent a proper SCH transfer, in the circumstances identified in the Constitution or as otherwise permitted or required under the Corporations Act or Listing Rules.

(c) Meetings of members

Directors may call a meeting of members whenever they think fit. Members may call a meeting as provided by section 249D of the Corporations Act. The Constitution contains provisions prescribing the content requirements of notices of meetings of members and all members are entitled to a notice of meeting. A meeting may be held in two or more places linked together by audio-visual communication devices. A quorum for a meeting of members is two natural persons, each of whom is or represents different Shareholders who are eligible to vote.

The Company holds annual general meetings in accordance with the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules.

(d) Voting

Subject to any rights or restrictions for the time being attached to any shares or class of shares of the Company, each member of the Company is entitled to receive notice of, attend and vote at a general meeting. Resolutions of members will be decided by a show of hands unless a poll is demanded. On a show of hands each eligible voter present has one vote. However, where a person present at a general meeting represents personally or by proxy, attorney or representative more than one member, on a show of hands the person is entitled to one vote only despite the number of members the person represents.

On a poll each eligible member has one vote for each fully paid share held and a fraction of a vote for each partly paid share determined by the amount paid up on that share.

(e) Directors

Under the provisions of the Constitution, unless changed by the Company in general meeting, the minimum number of Directors is three. The existing Directors and the Company in general meeting may appoint a new Director to fill a casual vacancy or as an addition to the Board. Any such Director must retire at the next following annual general meeting under the Constitution, (at which meeting he or she may be eligible for election as a Director). No Director, other than the Managing Director, may hold office for longer than three years without submitting himself or herself for re-election at the next following annual general meeting.

The business of the Company is to be managed by or under the direction of the Directors. The Directors are not required by the Constitution to hold any shares in the Company.

(f) Dividends

Subject to any rights attaching to Shares which may in the future be issued with special or preferred rights, the Directors may fix the amount, the time for payment and the method of payment of a dividend. Subject to any special rights attaching to Shares (such as preference shares), dividends will be paid proportionately to the number of Shares held by each member. The Company is not required to pay any interest on dividends.

(g) Officers: Indemnities and Insurance

Under the Constitution, to the extent permitted by law, the Company indemnifies every person who is or has been a Director or Secretary of the Company against a liability incurred by that person in his or her capacity as a Director or Secretary provided that the liability does not arise out of conduct involving his or her own dishonesty, negligence, lack of good faith or breach of duty. The Company may also pay the premiums on Directors and officers liability insurance in accordance with Corporations Act.

(h) Winding Up

If on a winding up of the Company there remains a surplus, then under the Constitution and subject to any rights attaching to Shares which may in the future be issued with special or preferred rights, all assets representing the surplus that may be legally distributed among Shareholders shall be so distributed in proportion to the number of shares held by each Shareholder.
