Stokes Bay-1 Exploration Well Drilling Update

Pancontinental Oil and Gas NL (ASX: PCL) wishes to advise that Joint Venture (JV) Operator Arc Energy (ASX: ARQ) advises that operations at the Stokes Bay-01 have currently been suspended due to heavy rain and will be resumed when weather allows.

Since the last report on November 15th announcing that testing had recommenced, swabbing operations have continued through the week, and as of 6:00am, 22nd November 2007, the swabbing operations had recovered 624bbls of drilling fluid lost to the formation during drilling. This brings the total fluids recovered to 3644bbls, and represents some 29% of the estimated 12,400bbls of drilling fluid lost.

Recent testing operations have utilised a specialised testing crew that was more cost efficient than having the Century Rig 18 on location. At this point, the nature of the reservoir fluid and the source of the pressure within the reservoir are still undetermined.

Equity positions in the Stokes Bay-1 well are now:

• ARC Energy Limited	38.95% (Operator)
• Empire Oil and Gas NL	14.80%
• Emerald Oil & Gas NL	12.75%
• Pancontinental Oil & Gas NL	10.00%
• Phoenix Resources PLC	10.00%
• First Australian Resources Limited	08.00%
• Indigo Oil Pty Ltd	05.50%
