

GENUS AWARDED LONG TERM WESTERN POWER MAINTENANCE WORKS

HIGHLIGHTS:

- Genus has been awarded a major program of maintenance and upgrade works for Western Power
- The five-year agreement is expected to generate revenue of circa $50 million in its first year

National essential power and communications infrastructure provider GenusPlus Group Ltd (ASX: GNP) (Genus or the Company) will deliver a major program of maintenance and upgrade works for Western Power, a Western Australian State Government owned corporation responsible for building, maintaining and operating the South West Interconnecting System (SWIS) electricity network. This program of works extends the Genus relationship with Western Power that has been in place for many years.

Genus will provide distribution and transmission overhead maintenance services across Western Power's network. The five-year agreement is expected to generate revenue of circa $50 million in its first year.

The first-year work includes pole replacements, reconductoring, cross arm and cross beam replacements, defect repairs, and line removal. The contract includes a range of services including transmission overhead maintenance and silconing.

The works will be delivered across Western Australia's SWIS, stretching from Kalbarri in the north to Kalgoorlie in the east and Albany in the south. The SWIS comprises of both transmission and distribution networks and serves the majority of Western Australia's population with over 2.3 million customers.

Genus Managing Director David Riches welcomed the opportunity to further extend the deep relationship with Western Power. "We are delighted to extend our long relationship to help maintain strong and reliable electricity infrastructure for Western Power and its customers."

Western Power Executive Manager Asset Operations Zane Christmas said. "Western Power looks forward to continuing its strong working relationship with Genus. This work and additional capacity will help ensure the delivery of existing and future work programs."

The Board of the Company has authorised the release of this announcement to the market.
