Rio Tinto Safety award

The Company was recently awarded the Rio Tinto 'Make a Difference' award for safety innovations at the Cape Lambert Port B Project. Tempo identified and implemented a new methodology that reduced the level of manual handling and manning required, as well as reduced costs, in a major conveyor belt replacement program on site. The award is significant recognition of Tempo's commitment to safety and its ability to adopt on-site innovation to reduce the risk of injury.

Tempo Chairman Carmelo Bontempo said:

"We are delighted to have secured these additional new works and extensions. The latest additions to our works with Rio Tinto at the Cape Lambert Port B Project and at BHP Billiton Iron Ore's Mooka Ore Car Repair Shop highlight our ability to deliver high quality works and services to major, blue chip clients. I am especially pleased to have our safety initiatives recognised by Rio Tinto through the 'Make a Difference' Award. This award was the result of the great work of our people on site, and I would like to congratulate them. Tempo's business model is based on our commitment to safety, people, productivity and performance, and it is these values which continue to drive the success of the business."
