Australian Grocery Market & Online Adoption

The Australian Grocery market is dominated by major retailers Woolworths and Coles, but includes steady growth in 2nd Tier retailers fighting for market share.

Covid-related lockdowns have accelerated adoption of online grocery shopping, with the market now worth over $10 Billion and growing.

Online adoption has provided better opportunities for shoppers for product research, comparison shopping, and enhanced competition.

Cost of Living Challenges

Grocery prices have been heavily impacted by numerous cost pressures on producers and brands, including:

- Global events (War in Ukraine, Trade Conflicts, impacts on fuel & power costs)
- Major climate events impacting growers (fires, floods, unseasonable weather conditions)
- Rising costs of imported ingredients and packaging commodities

Inflationary pressures are driving increases in interest rates and housing costs.

The combined increases in groceries, fuel, power and housing has created a surging cost of living crisis for Australians, who are increasingly looking for ways to cut costs and save money.

The worst cost-of-living squeeze in two decades is pushing Australians to make major changes to their spending habits, a new report reveals.

"Consumers are not only noticing price increases more (particularly when spending on groceries, transport and utilities), but are changing their spending habits and lifestyle patterns in an attempt to tackle them," NAB economists Dean Pearson and Robert De lure said.

Other essentials like groceries are also squeezing households, with more than half of shoppers (54 per cent) switching to cheaper brands or taking extra time to research the best prices.
