MEDIA RELEASE

Integrated Research appoints new Chief Financial Officer

Sydney, 28 July 2006 – Integrated Research's (ASX:IRI) developers of PROGNOSIS performance monitoring software today announced the appointment of Mr Stephen Rorie, who will join the company as Chief Financial Officer on August 7, 2006.

In this role, Stephen Rorie will replace David Leighton who retired from this position on March 31, 2006, but continues working for the company as Company Secretary.

Mr Rorie was previously Chief Financial Officer for Volante, a leading Australian owned, publicly listed IT services, solutions and infrastructure group. Earlier roles include General Manager Finance for the Mirvac Group, and Chief Financial Officer and Company Secretary for Parbury Limited, an ASX-listed company, prior to its take over by Atkins Carlyle Limited.

Mr Rorie holds a Bachelor of Commerce Degree from the University of New South Wales and is a Chartered Accountant and has extensive senior corporate, finance and manufacturing experience.

"I am delighted to welcome Stephen to the team," said Keith Andrews, Chief Executive Officer, Integrated Research. "He is well qualified for this role, and has the energy to help continue our international growth, whilst increasing our profile with the investment community."

Andrews added his appreciation and thanks to David Purdue who has been acting Chief Financial Officer since David Leighton's retirement.
