

MBOX.COM LIMITED ANNOUNCEMENT (ASX CODE: MBX)

MBOX LAUNCHES SMS TECHNOLOGY SUITE

25 March 2003

mBox.com Limited launched the first phase of its SMS technology suite, which commenced in March 2003. There has been a large response from customers wishing to take part in a trial that facilitates the sending of emails from the desktop inbox to SMS notifications on their mobile phones.

Customers out of the office can now be alerted as to when important email has arrived and respond accordingly. The current SMS package on offer can also be used to send bulk messaging or group messaging from the desk top. Customers have been signing up through prepaid credit facility.

The next schedule release in the SMS suite is for corporate clients in the service industry. The package manages effective two way communication for both customers and field staff, at reduced telecommunication spends.

mBox continues to refine its service offering with a focus on carrying traffic and providing smart subscription paid applications.
