MEDIA / INTERNET CHAT ROOM POSTING

On the morning of 30 October 2012 Lindian Resources Ltd (the Company) became aware of an article relating to the Company and its projects in the Philippines on an online website of the Zambo Times, a newspaper based in Zamboanga City, Philippines and that a link to this article was posted on an internet chat room website (the Article).

Whilst the Company does not in the normal course respond to media speculation, a price query was received from the ASX and queries from shareholders warranted a trading halt. This response is issued to ensure an informed market.

The Company advises that the Article contains factually incorrect information relating to the Company's Masapelid Project. The Company confirms that exploration activities are continuing at the Masapelid Project as planned and as per the Company's exploration activity announcements with the ASX.

The Company considers the publication of factually incorrect information relating to the Masapelid Project extremely serious. The Company is reviewing its rights and potential remedies which may be available in both the Philippines and Australia, including any courses of action that may be available through the relevant regulatory authorities.

The posting has been removed from the internet chat room by the website moderators.

The Company is and remains in compliance with its continuous disclosure obligations.

Yours faithfully
