About Firetail Resources

Firetail Resources (ASX:FTL) is an Australian based, copper exploration company focussed on its flagship Skyline Copper Project located in Newfoundland, Canada.

The Skyline Copper Projects is an advanced high-grade Copper-Zinc-Silver VMS Project in Newfoundland, Canada, host to historic production of 100,000 tonnes mined at 3-12% Cu, 7% Zn and 1-3oz/t Ag (refer to Firetail's ASX announcement dated 6 June 2024).

Firetail also has exposure to greenfield high-grade copper through its 70% holding in the Picha Copper-Silver Project and Charaque Copper Project in Peru. Picha is a very lightly explored copper-silver project where Firetail has identified multiple drill-ready targets; and Charaque is a copper project formerly subject to a farm-in deal with Barrick Gold Corporation.

The Company currently has active exploration programs across the Skyline Project, including an active diamond drilling campaign, airborne geophysics and regional targeting campaign. In Peru the in-country exploration team is conducting ground-based mapping and soil sampling to define existing and additional high potential copper targets.
