Australia Post Data Centre at NEXTDC M1

NEXTDC Limited (ASX: NXT) ("the Company" or "NEXTDC") is pleased to announce that Australian Postal Corporation ("Australia Post") has chosen NEXTDC's M1 (Melbourne) facility as the home for its new Melbourne data centre.

Under the arrangement NEXTDC will host Australia Post's infrastructure at a starting configuration of more than 70 racks in a dedicated pod managed by the ONEDC[®] Data Centre as a Service (DCaaS) platform.

Commenting on the arrangement NEXTDC CEO Craig Scroggie said, "we are very excited to have been selected by Australia Post as its data centre partner and welcome Australia Post to the NEXTDC ecosystem."

About NEXTDC

NEXTDC is an ASX 300 company and is the only independent data centre operator with strategic footprint in all major growth markets in Australia.

NEXTDC offers a range of highly flexible, scalable, resilient and secure colocation services to corporate, government and IT services companies.

NEXTDC's purpose-built facilities have been designed to address the market's growing appetite for energy-efficient, independent data centres in which organisations can host their critical IT infrastructure, and also to address the emergence and growth of cloud (internet-based) computing.

As a cloud enabler, NEXTDC's enterprise-class data centre facilities address the challenges of security, connectivity and neutrality that have hindered the wider acceptance of cloud computing.
