Further to reports in today's media, as stated in SEEK's Investor Day presentation on 3 May 2011, we are a long-term strategic investor in international online employment markets, and we will always be exploring value creation opportunities, however nothing is imminent at this point in time. In line with our disclosure obligations SEEK would ensure that the market is appropriately informed if it determined to proceed with any such strategy or process as referred to in today's media.