Total Communications Infrastructure Limited (TCI) - Upgrade to 2004/05 Prospectus Profit Forecast

The Board and Management of TCI are pleased to advise that TCI's maiden full year result will be approximately 20% higher than originally forecast in the Prospectus of November 2004.

The full year net profit after tax is now expected to increase from $11.3 million to approximately $13.5 million. The expected annualised earnings per share will increase from 10.3cps to approximately 12.3cps.

This result for the full year builds on the strong basis established in the first half, and demonstrates the strength of TCI's business and high activity levels across all disciplines.

Jim Cooney, founder and Chairman, stated: "TCI has benefited from the industry's exceptionally high growth rate in recent years, and the industry is now at the beginning of a further technology cycle as 3G and wireless broadband networks roll out across the country."

CEO Rod Stanton said "The teams in all states have performed extremely well, and the solid preparation during 2004 ensured accelerated productivity in the second half of the year."

TCI continues to pursue further growth opportunities to deliver shareholder value by capitalising on the company's core skills and unique position in the technology infrastructure market.

TCI is one of Australia's leading project managers and systems integrators in wireless communications infrastructure. TCI covers property acquisition, planning approvals, design, construction, installation & commissioning and ongoing maintenance, for wireless communications facilities ranging from wireless telephone Base Stations to satellite earth stations
