For General Release

Australian Renewable Fuels (ASX: ARW) is pleased to offer the following update with regard to the general feed stock supply conditions.

- The initial 80 tons of the Indonesian Recycled Mill Oil (RMO) has now been shipped to Australia, and will be landed in Melbourne and processed through the Barnawartha and Adelaide plants. An additional 3000 tons of RMO product is currently in storage at the Dumai facility, and will be loaded for transport to Australia starting 15 July.
- The current value of the Australian Dollar has allowed the company to acquire conventional feed stock in "bulk form" from overseas markets, specifically Indonesia and China. This product is arriving in the Adelaide plant during the week of 20 June, and will be processed immediately. As such, and during the ramp up of the RMO deliveries, the company will continue to supplement local purchases with other overseas lower cost feed stock options.

The RMO project continues to develop, with the main items now ordered in China, and work in place by local contractors on the other smaller components. All plans for the product conversion are being geared to the 15 July Dumai (Indonesia) loading.
