The Notice of 2022 Annual General Meeting and the Notice of Scheme Meeting (Annexure D of the Scheme Booklet) provide further information on the options available to do this.

Important information about the restructure

The restructure was a key component of our T22 strategy and is also a key component of our new T25 strategy, announced last year. It is an important next step in our drive to increase the transparency of our infrastructure assets and to improve management focus on our infrastructure and customer businesses, and consequently provides us more flexibility to create additional value for you, our shareholders.

It also recognises the world has changed significantly on the back of the pandemic. This is expected to accelerate digitisation in the home, the workplace and economies more broadly, and reinforces the importance and value of the telecommunications infrastructure and connectivity that enables that digitisation.

Delivering on our strategy, including the investments we have made in digitisation and networks, together with the benefits that will flow from the restructure, positions us well to capitalise on these changes.

The restructure involves the establishment of New Telstra Corp as the head entity of the Telstra Group and the movement of entities, assets and liabilities within the Telstra Group. While we outline the various steps that will occur as part of the restructure in the Scheme Booklet, it is only the step referred to as the Scheme that needs shareholder approval.

The restructure is an internal legal re-organisation and will not itself result in any immediate change to the underlying assets or business activities of the Telstra Group. It will provide us with more options and potential to realise additional value for Telstra Shareholders from our infrastructure assets.

If the Scheme is approved there will be no change to the level of your shareholding and you will receive one New Telstra Corp Share for each of your existing Telstra Shares.¹ New Telstra Corp Shares will have the same dividend and voting rights as Telstra Shares.

1. Unless you are an Ineligible Foreign Shareholder – see section 6.4 of the Scheme Booklet for more information.

The detailed information within the Scheme Booklet explains why the Telstra Directors will all be voting their Telstra Shares in favour of the Scheme, and unanimously recommend you do the same.

This recommendation is based on our detailed assessment of the potential advantages and disadvantages of the Scheme, set out in the Scheme Booklet, as summarised below.

Advantages / reasons to vote in favour:

- increased transparency of the assets of our customer and infrastructure businesses, allowing management to drive performance and efficiencies while also providing a clearer picture for shareholders and potential investors to value the business;
- increased focus on our customer and infrastructure businesses through separate management teams with business-specific strategies, supported by dedicated risk teams under a group-wide risk management and compliance framework. It will do this while limiting disruption to the Telstra Group's businesses, including its arrangements with nbn. This heightened standalone focus is expected to deliver value to Telstra Shareholders over time; and
- greater flexibility and optionality to realise value from the Telstra Group's fixed infrastructure assets over time, and potential to take advantage of opportunities that may arise to create value for Telstra Shareholders.

Disadvantages / reasons to vote against:

- the one-off costs to the Telstra Group that are expected to arise if the Scheme is implemented. Those costs (excluding stamp duty)² are not considered to be material to the Telstra Group. The overall one-off costs associated with the Scheme, most of which have already been incurred or will be incurred regardless of whether the Scheme is implemented, are expected to be $126 million (excluding stamp duty) and comprise incremental IT systems and process costs, adviser fees, the cost of the Independent Expert, and costs associated with the Scheme Meeting;
- additional ongoing costs for the Telstra Group that might not otherwise arise. They will mainly be incremental costs in connection with the administration of the new corporate structure and, in aggregate, are not considered to be material to the Telstra Group;
- one or more of the risks associated with the implementation of the restructure occurring. Those risks are summarised in FAQ A.15 of the Scheme Booklet and are outlined in more detail in section 2.9 of the Scheme Booklet; and
- you may disagree with the recommendation of the Telstra Board and the conclusion of the Independent Expert outlined below.

2. Information on the stamp duty costs associated with implementing the Scheme is set out in sections 2.8.1, 2.9.3 and 7.7.3 of the Scheme Booklet.

The Independent Expert has concluded that the Scheme is in the best interests of Telstra Shareholders. The report from the Independent Expert is included in the Scheme Booklet. In that report the Independent Expert states:

“The critical question is whether shareholders are likely to realise greater value over time if the Scheme is implemented than if the Telstra Group’s current structure is maintained. The evaluation is essentially subjective. However, on balance, in Grant Samuel’s view, the potential advantages of the Scheme outweigh the disadvantages and risks. While implementation of the Scheme is not a guarantee of future performance or of any value enhancing transaction, shareholders are ultimately likely to be better off if the Scheme proceeds.”

The full detail on the advantages, disadvantages and risks is set out in section 2 of the Scheme Booklet.

If you have any questions about the Scheme, the Scheme Booklet or the Scheme Meeting, please consult an independent and appropriately licensed and authorised professional adviser.

We thank you for your continued support as a Telstra Shareholder and encourage you to vote on this important decision which will set Telstra up for the future.

Yours sincerely,

John P Mullen
Chairman
