- CSA Global, an ERM Group Company, is a geological, mining and management consulting company providing strategic mining services and exploration services to companies in the international mining industry.
- Data compilation and technical review of the project is well advanced and exploration works being planned

Viking Mines Limited (ASX:VKA) (“Viking” or “the Company”) is pleased to announce that it has engaged the services of CSA Global to assist in the advancement of the high grade gold projects held by Red Dirt (“Projects”) located within the Eastern Goldfields, Western Australia, and that are subject to a conditional acquisition agreement with Red Dirt.

CSA Global’s Perth-based geosciences team are leading practitioners in gold geology, structural understanding, and orebody knowledge, as well as practical exploration knowledge. CSA Global are familiar with most geological environments and a broad variety of mineral commodities. The geoscience team has substantial Australian and international experience, ranging from continental-scale grassroots targeting exercises, through greenfield and brownfield exploration programme design and execution, mine geology, property evaluation and due diligence, board level strategy development and guidance, to independent regulatory technical reporting and mineral project valuation.

The CSA Global geosciences team has been engaged by the Company to provide independent advice, review data, assess the opportunities, and to propose programmes of work to advance the First Hit Mine targets and tenement wide exploration opportunities.

Viking’s Chairman Ray Whitten said: “The CSA Global geosciences team is highly experienced and pragmatic, with direct and relevant experience in the type of opportunities presented in the Red Dirt Projects. Viking is excited about the prospectivity offered by these potentially high-grade deposits.”

This announcement has been authorised by the Board of Directors of the Company.
