NORWOOD SYSTEMS APPOINTS GEOFFREY DONOHUE AS DIRECTOR

ASX-listed Norwood Systems, a Perth-based global provider of personal, hands free wireless communications solutions for business and enterprise, is pleased to announce the appointment of Geoff Donohue as a director of the Company.

Bringing a wealth of experience to the role, Geoff has 24 years experience at both board and senior management level within public companies and the securities industry.

Geoff was a founding director of Alphawest Limited, a national IT services company, from its date of listing on ASX and was instrumental in the company's corporate direction, which involved its recent takeover by Optus Networks Pty Limited.

Geoff's prior experience includes eight years as a director of a Perth based investment banking organisation where he was involved in management and corporate finance. In 1996 he co-established Ausvaal Pty Ltd, a principal based investment and corporate management company, of which he is currently a director and co-owner.

He is also a director of BacTech Mining Corporation, a Canadian public company and a non-executive director of Essa Australia Limited, a manufacturer of sampling and sample preparation equipment, which is listed on ASX.

Geoff holds a Bachelor of Commerce from James Cook University of North Queensland, Graduate Diploma in Financial Analysis from the Securities Institute of Australia and is a Certified Practicing Accountant.

The corporate strategy of Norwood Systems is to maximise shareholder value by creating world-class Fixed-Mobile Convergence FMC software and distributing it through significant re-seller agreements with leading telecommunications companies.
