The WAM Global (ASX: WGB) investment portfolio decreased during the month, alongside global equity markets. European live events ticketing company CTS Eventim (ETR: EVD) contributed to the investment portfolio performance, while infrastructure services provider Quanta Services (NYSE: PWR) was a detractor during the month.

CTS Eventim is a leading vertically integrated operator in the live music and entertainment space globally. It is the dominant player in Germany, Italy, Switzerland and Austria, with a significant market share in each country. In February, the company released its FY2024 results, which exceeded market expectations. Group revenue increased 19.1% year-on-year to EUR2.8 billion, while adjusted earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) grew 21.9% to EUR542 million. Both the ticketing and live entertainment divisions delivered strong results, with particularly pleasing margin improvements in the fourth quarter due to incremental sales growth. Looking ahead, we remain optimistic about CTS Eventim's long-term prospects, supported by a strong artist touring schedule and the rising share of mobile ticket sales. With CEO Klaus-Peter Schulenberg holding a 38.8% stake in the company, we are confident in the leadership's ability to drive continued success.

Quanta Services is a leading North American provider of infrastructure services across utilities, renewable energy, pipelines, communications and energy sectors. In February, the company's share price was impacted by market concerns over potential reductions in spend on infrastructure related to data centers, and uncertainty surrounding renewable energy policies under a Trump administration. Despite these fears, Quanta Services reported strong financial results that exceeded market expectations and reaffirmed its guidance for double-digit revenue and profit growth in FY2025. The company's order backlog increased 15% to a record USD34.5 billion, reinforcing our confidence in its ability to deliver strong results. We believe Quanta Services is well-positioned for sustained growth, driven by increasing demand for data center infrastructure as use cases for artificial intelligence grow and the modernisation by utilities of ageing grid infrastructure across the US. With its differentiated solutions provider model, Quanta Services continues to play a central role in maintaining and expanding critical infrastructure.

Fully franked dividends since inception

The Board declared a fully franked interim dividend of 6.5 cents per share payable on 30 May 2025 and a special fully franked dividend of 4.0 cents per share payable on 31 July 2025.
