Hebron Offshore Platform Contract

WorleyParsons is pleased to announce that it has been awarded a contract by ExxonMobil Canada Properties for the topsides on the Hebron Project. The contract follows front end engineering and design services and exercises ExxonMobil's option to subsequently award detailed engineering, procurement and construction (EPC) services.

The Hebron Field is an oil and gas development in the Atlantic Ocean located 350 kilometers offshore from St. John's in Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada.

WorleyParsons estimates its portion, including engineering and project management, of the services revenue under the EPC contract to be US$360 million over five years. WorleyParsons, working with Fluor, will provide overall project management of the contract with subcontracts to be awarded to multiple third parties, with a special emphasis on performing work in Newfoundland and Labrador.

Commenting, WorleyParsons' Chief Executive Officer John Grill said: "WorleyParsons is excited to have been contracted for this next phase by ExxonMobil Canada Properties for the complex Hebron project which will utilize our proven expertise in sub-Arctic floatover topsides".
