WorleyParsons awarded services contract for the first Polish Nuclear Power Plant development program

WorleyParsons has been selected in a public procurement procedure by PGE EJ 1 sp z o. o. to provide services related to site characterization, licensing and permitting for the development of the first Polish nuclear power plant. It will have a power output of approximately 3,000 MWe.

PGE EJ 1 sp. z o.o. is a special purpose company responsible for preparing the investment process and construction of the first nuclear power plant in Poland. It operates within the Nuclear Power business line of PGE Capital Group.

The services will be provided by WorleyParsons' nuclear hubs in Europe (Sofia, Bulgaria) and the United States (Reading, Pennsylvania) and will involve work on two potential sites. The Sofia hub will lead the effort.

The services will be provided under an agreement which provides for 252 million PLN (USD 81.5 million) of services and the characterization of up to four sites. This agreement is valid for a five-year period.

WorleyParsons has participated in a number of recent or ongoing similar projects involving investigations, characterization and selection of sites for construction of new nuclear power plants in the United States, Europe, Middle East and Africa.

Commenting, WorleyParsons' Chief Executive Officer, Andrew Wood stated "We are pleased to offer PGE more than 50 years of experience in support of building a safe and efficient nuclear power plant compliant with all the latest safety requirements. We look forward to working closely with PGE in the analysis and selection of the final site for Poland's first nuclear power plant".
