Retirement of Non-Executive Director

The Board of Wrkr Ltd (ASX:WRK) (Wrkr) announces the retirement of Non-Executive Director Randolf Clinton, effective immediately. Randolf has decided to step down from his role due to increasing work commitments outside the company.

Randolf said, "I believe Wrkr CEO Trent Lund and the team have delivered a quality business in a first class way and it gives me great comfort to step aside now. I wish everyone the best of luck for the journey ahead but it's time for me to allocate some of this time to my many other portfolio companies who are at the start of their journeys, with several of them needing the same support that Comply Path/Bond required in 2020."

Randolf joined the Wrkr Board on the merger of InPayTech and Comply Path/Bond in 2021 and has played an important role in the successful growth of the Company, and its milestone achievement in FY 2024 of reaching a positive EBITDA.

Wrkr Chair, Emma Dobson, said: "On behalf of the Board and the wider Wrkr team, I would like to thank Randolf for his hard work, good humour and expertise over the past three years. Randolf's background in M&A and capital markets greatly assisted management in successfully positioning the merged entity for growth and his significant experience in corporate governance ensured a robust compliance overlay. We wish him all the best for the future."

Ms Dobson said Board succession at Wrkr remains an ongoing focus and any new Board appointment would be announced in due course after a review of the Board skills requirements.
