SAFE-T GROUP ANNOUNCES DISMISSAL OF NETNUT'S PATENT LITIGATION

Case No. 2:20-cv-00188-JRG-RSP<sup>1</sup>, Luminati Networks Ltd. v. NetNut Ltd., Dismissed Without Prejudice, No Monetary Payment from NetNut to Bright Data and No Effect on NetNut's Ongoing Services

HERZLIYA, Israel, December 14, 2021 - Safe-T Group Ltd. (NASDAQ, TASE: SFET), a global provider of cybersecurity and privacy solutions to consumers and enterprises, announces that NetNut Ltd., Safe-T Group's enterprise privacy solutions subsidiary unit ("NetNut"), has entered into a settlement agreement with Bright Data Ltd.<sup>2</sup> (f/k/a Luminati Networks Ltd., hereinafter "Bright Data") agreeing to terminate the patent infringement action Bright Data initiated against NetNut on June 11, 2020 in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Marshall Division.

NetNut respects the valid intellectual property rights of others and believes that Bright Data's patents were not infringed by NetNut's services and that they are invalid based on voluminous prior art. In order to continue providing superior technology and service to its customers and to free the market of invalid patents that are used in litigation as a tool to stifle market innovation and inhibit market growth and fair competition, NetNut will continue to challenge the validity of all relevant patents controlled by Bright Data.

As previously reported, on June 11, 2020, Bright Data filed an action, alleging infringement by NetNut of U.S. Patent Nos. 10,484,511 and 10,637,968, as well as claims of trade secret misappropriation, which NetNut indicated it believed was without merits<sup>3</sup>. Based on initial evaluation at the time when the complaint was filed, NetNut believed that the action was without merits. Pursuant to a confidential settlement agreement, the case was dismissed without prejudice on December 10, 2021, with no monetary payment from NetNut to Bright Data and with no effect on NetNut's ongoing services for customers. As indicated in the table below, the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office ("PTO") has granted NetNut's Ex Parte Reexamination requests on these two patents and has preliminarily rejected all the claims asserted against NetNut.

NetNut has consistently challenged the patentability of Bright Data's patents, both in court and at the PTO. To date, NetNut has filed several requests for Inter Partes Review ("IPR") and Ex Parte Reexamination ("EPR")<sup>4</sup>, challenging the validity of Bright Data's patents. In each of NetNut's PTO challenges reaching a preliminary decision on the merits, the PTO has agreed with NetNut's positions that Bright Data's patents are likely unpatentable. NetNut's current PTO challenges, up until today's date, include the following:

<sup>4</sup> These procedures ask the PTO to re-examine the subject matter of patents to reconsider whether their claims are patentable.

<sup>7</sup> An IPR will be instituted if the PTO finds that the petition demonstrates that there is a reasonable likelihood that at least one of the challenged claims is unpatentable.

As also previously reported, on June 18, 2021, Bright Data filed an action alleging infringement of U.S. Patent Nos. 10,257,319 and 10,484,510 against NetNut. The action was also filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, Marshall Division. Bright Data amended its complaint on October 11, 2021, to additionally assert infringement of U.S. Patents Nos. 10,491,713, 11,050,852 and 11,044,346, as well as a claim for alleged false advertising. NetNut disagrees with each of Bright Data's claims and is defending itself in the litigation. As indicated in the table above, NetNut has already challenged most of the patents asserted in this action and believes that the outcome will be similar to that of the patents asserted against it in the first case.
