Explanations:

1. If the interested party holds more than one type of security, the holding percentages taking into account all the securities held by him must be indicated in only one of the rows.
2. It is also necessary to report holdings of other securities, including other securities that are not listed for trading.
3. In a case where the interested party is a subsidiary, the holdings must be split between shares acquired prior to the Companies Law, 1999 coming into force, and shares acquired after it came into force.
4. When the holder is not a member of an institutional reporting group, only section 3(a) must be completed. When the holder is a member of an institutional reporting group, sections 3(a) and 3(b) must be completed.
5. If the interested party is a corporation wholly owned (100%) by a single controlling shareholder, the “Name of holder” field should indicate the name of the single controlling shareholder and in the notes at the bottom of the form the details of the corporation or corporations through which the shares are held will be provided, together with any other relevant detail. In contrast, if the interested party is a corporation held by more than one controlling shareholder, or held by several interested parties, the “Name of holder” field should indicate the name of the holding corporation and in the notes at the bottom of the form details will be provided of the controlling shareholders or interested parties who hold the holding corporation.
6. Reporting regarding a significant holder of a means of control in a banking corporation without a core controlling interest shall be reported on Form T121.

* It must be stated whether these are dormant shares or securities convertible into dormant shares
