Introduction

During this complex period, when Israeli society faces multiple challenges, we at Clal Group continue to act with a deep sense of responsibility and belief in the power of a stable economy to bring about change.

Despite the difficulties and turmoil, the Israeli economy continues to show exceptional resilience. The strength of Israel's financial system, its capital market, its business entrepreneurship and its social fabric – have proven time and again the economy's ability to recover, adapt and even grow out of a crisis.

In such an environment, Clal is proud to serve as a central pillar of Israel's economic infrastructure – a stable, profitable and responsible entity, committed not only to achieving returns, but also to contributing to the economy, society and to boosting the public's trust.

We hope for the swift return of the hostages, for the wellbeing of the security forces and military, and for peaceful days of recovery, which will allow us to focus our resources and efforts on the momentum of renewed growth and continued realization of the tremendous potential inherent in Israel's economy.

The Israeli Insurance and Credit Market

Key Drivers

Fertility rate, average no. of children per woman

This is a significant growth engine for the insurance, savings and credit subsegments. In the past twenty years, Israel's fertility rate has been approx. 90% higher than the average fertility rate of OECD countries.

Penetration rate - insurance products (%)

Reflects the development level of the insurance sector in Israel; calculated as total premiums of the insurance market divided by GDP of that year. The Israeli insurance market has significant growth potential.

Public's long-term savings assets (NIS billion)

Continued substantial growth in assets under management by institutional entities - including pension funds, provident funds, education funds and executive insurance.

Private consumption spending per capita (NIS thousand)

This is a significant growth engine in the credit card industry. Approx. 30% in growth in a decade

Structure of main holdings

Diversified activity in the fields of insurance and long-term savings, credit cards and insurance agencies

Classification of operating segments

Operating Segments

P&C Insurance

comprises five subsegments: Liability - Compulsory Motor and Other Liability (which mainly includes third-party liability insurance products); Property - Motor Property, Credit Insurance and Other Property (including remaining property subsegments other than motor and liability as well as other insurance subsegments, such as guarantees).

Health Insurance

comprises the Group's activity in the Health Insurance subsegments. The segment includes LTC (individual and collective) and Illnesses and Hospitalization (which includes medical expenses, surgeries and transplants, personal accidents and travel).

Long-Term Savings

includes the Group's activity in the life insurance, pension funds and provident funds subsegments. The segment includes long-term savings as well as insurance coverage of various risks such as death and disability insurance includes credit cards operating results, divided into two main areas of activity: issuance and acquiring.

Credit Cards

Other

Mostly includes own agencies and investment in Michlol

Activity that is not assigned to segments

consists of the Group's headquarters, which mainly consists of capital, liabilities (including finance expenses for Max's acquisition) and assets outside the insurance or credit card businesses, and amortization of Max's excess cost

Continued Implementation of the Group's Strategy

In 2023, Clal Holdings Group completed the acquisition of credit card company Max, and it is currently benefiting from two significant pillars - the Insurance and Long-Term Savings Segment and the Credit Cards Segment. Thus, Clal Holdings is accelerating its change from a legacy insurance company with a significant bias towards traditional long-term savings and long-term care products, to a financial holding group with diversified sources of non-cash income and profit.

The Company presents higher earnings arising from a significant increase in income from business activity, both in Insurance and Savings and in the Credit Cards Segment. It is apparent that Max group is well incorporated in Clal Holdings Group in its capacity as a leading institutional entity in Israel, and that its strong results contribute significantly to the Group's growth.

In 2024, the Company distributed its first dividend after more than a decade. Now, the Company has declared a dividend of approx. NIS 300 million from Clal Insurance, of which Clal Holdings will distribute approx. NIS 200 million to its shareholders.

Improvement Across the Company's KPIs

1. Core income includes insurance underwriting income, income from savings management (investment contracts, pension and provident), credit cards and agencies, and the Group's finance expenses. Income also includes the addition of an annual spread of 2.25% over risk-free interest rate plus weighted illiquidity premium on the investment portfolio against non-yield-dependent insurance liabilities without a Hetz Bond component and a nominal risk-free interest rate plus an annual spread of 2.25% on the investment portfolio against the Company's equity and financial liabilities.

Key trends in Q1/2025

Comprehensive income after tax in the reporting period of approx. NIS 409 million, compared to an income of NIS 314 million in the corresponding quarter last year

Underwriting income from insurance and savings of approx. NIS 252 million before tax, compared to NIS 203 million last year, an increase of approx. 25% due to improvement across all insurance subsegments.

Continued growth in the profitability of the Credit Card Segment - Max's profit reached approx. NIS 79 million after tax, compared to NIS 58 million last year, an increase of approx. 36%.

Distribution of dividends by Clal Insurance and Clal Holdings of NIS 300 million and NIS 200 million, respectively.
