IRS Publishes New Safe Harbor Guidelines

Subsequent to the Executive Order issued on July 7, 2025, the United States Internal Revenue Service (the “IRS”) issued new criteria on August 15, 2025 regarding the “beginning of construction” requirements to qualify for “safe harbor” treatment in connection with the tax benefit eligibility of solar projects.

As previously enacted under the reconciliation bill¹, solar projects that qualify for “safe harbor” treatment by July 4, 2026 shall be eligible for full IRA tax benefits provided they become operational by 2030. The IRS guidelines for energy storage projects remain unchanged. The new guidelines will enter into effect on September 2, 2025, with no retroactive effect on projects that have already secured their tax benefit eligibility.

Following a preliminary analysis, the new guidelines allow the Company to implement, at the minimum, its business plan as published in the presentation titled: “Enlight and the IRA Transition”, furnished as Exhibit 99.1 to the Form 6-K furnished to the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission on May 27, 2025, pursuant to which the Company’s total operating portfolio in the U.S. eligible for tax benefits is expected to reach 6.5-8.0 factored gigawatts (FGW), by the end of 2028. The Company expects that its total global operating portfolio will reach 11-13 FGW with an annual recurring revenue and income run rate (ARR) of approximately $2 billion by the end of 2028, almost four times larger than the Company’s revenues and income guidance for 2025.

Furthermore, a significant portion of the Company’s mature portfolio² in the U.S. already meets existing regulations. In addition to the capacity mentioned above, the Company estimates an additional significant amount of projects within its U.S. development portfolio may meet the guidelines for commencement of construction and commencement of operations, and thus qualify for full tax credits, subject to other required development milestones.

Cautionary Note Regarding Forward-Looking Statements

This report on Form 6-K contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the U.S. Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. We intend such forward-looking statements to be covered by the safe harbor provisions for forward-looking statements as contained in Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended. All statements contained in this filing other than statements of historical fact, including, without limitation, statements regarding the Company’s expectations relating to projects, plans, projections, predicted or anticipated future results, and the completion timeline for projects, are forward-looking statements. The words “may,” “might,” “will,” “could,” “would,” “should,” “expect,” “plan,” “anticipate,” “intend,” “target,” “seek,” “believe,” “estimate,” “predict,” “potential,” “continue,” “contemplate,” “possible,” “forecasts,” “aims” or the negative of these terms and similar expressions are intended to identify forward-looking statements, though not all forward-looking statements use these words or expressions. These statements are neither promises nor guarantees, but involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other important factors that may cause our actual results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by the forward-looking statements, including, but not limited to, the following: our ability to site suitable land for, and otherwise source, renewable energy projects and to successfully develop and convert them into Operational Projects; availability of, and access to, interconnection facilities and transmission systems; our ability to obtain and maintain governmental and other regulatory approvals and permits, including environmental approvals and permits; construction delays, operational delays and supply chain disruptions leading to increased cost of materials required for the construction of our projects, as well as cost overruns and delays related to disputes with contractors; our suppliers’ ability and willingness to perform both existing and future obligations; competition from traditional and renewable energy companies in developing renewable energy projects; potential slowed demand for renewable energy projects and our ability to enter into new offtake contracts on acceptable terms and prices as current offtake contracts expire; offtakers’ ability to terminate contracts or seek other remedies resulting from failure of our projects to meet development, operational or performance benchmarks; various technical and operational challenges leading to unplanned outages, reduced output, interconnection or termination issues; the dependence of our production and revenue on suitable meteorological and environmental conditions, and our ability to accurately predict such conditions; our ability to enforce warranties provided by our counterparties in the event that our projects do not
