Explanations:

1. If the interested party holds more than one type of security, the holding percentages should be indicated taking into account all securities held by him, in only one of the lines.

2. Securities holdings of other types should also be reported, including other securities that are not listed for trading.

3. In a case where the interested party is a subsidiary, the holdings should be split between shares purchased before the Companies Law, 1999 came into force, and shares purchased after it came into force.

4. When the holder is not a member of an institutional reporting group, only Section 3a should be completed. When the holder is a member of an institutional reporting group, Sections 3a and 3b should be completed.

5. If the interested party is a corporation wholly (100%) owned by a single controlling shareholder, the "Name of holder" field should state the name of the single controlling shareholder and, in the notes at the bottom of the form, details should be provided of the corporation or corporations through which the shares are held, together with any other relevant detail. On the other hand, if the interested party is a corporation held by more than one controlling shareholder, or held by several interested parties, the "Name of holder" field should state the name of the holding corporation and, in the notes at the bottom of the form, details should be provided of the controlling shareholders or interested parties who hold the holding corporation.

6. A report regarding a holder of a means of material control in a banking corporation without a control core shall be reported on report T121.

* It should be indicated whether these are dormant shares or securities convertible into dormant shares
