- (2) Develop new materials, provide more comfortable products to serve customers, and increase the market competitiveness of products.
- (3) Improve the production process and increase the automation production ratio.
- (4) Strengthen cooperation with current customers and actively develop new customers to increase market share.

(V) Future development strategies

The Company's strategic focus on developed markets is starting to yield positive results. As contact lens markets start to mature in many of the world's developing nations, the Company will be transferring its successful experiences from Taiwan and international markets while at the same time introduce broader variety of products to increase market share.

(VI) Impacts of the competitive environment, regulatory environment, and overall business environment

1. External competition

Contact lens is a form of medical device and is regulated as such. Its technology-intensive nature presents a high barrier of entry. The world's top-4 contact lens brands, namely Johnson & Johnson, Alcon, Cooper and Bausch & Lomb, aggregately account for more than 90% share of the global market, but because their strategies are all focused on marketing their own brands, they leave little margin for the intermediary channels. Out of concern for profitability, distributors are opening themselves to ODM products, which works in favor of the Company as an ODM. According to market statistics, online sale of contact lens has increased in weight in recent years in markets such as USA, Japan and China. Although this development may impact sales at physical channels, the Internet actually presents a wider sales channel. However, due to the different regulations imposed by different countries, it is premature to establish the actual impact of online sales.

2. The regulatory environment

As mentioned above, contact lens is considered as medical device, which is why production and sale shall comply with relevant regulations in the respective countries' competent authority. The Global Harmonization Working Party (GHWP) is dedicated to the promotion of medical device laws and the creation of harmonization standards. GHWP's members currently comprise health authorities, medical device manufacturers and Conformity Assessment Bodies from Asia, Africa, The Middle East and South America. It also collaborates with international organizations such as International Medical Device Regulators Forum (IMDRF) to establish guidelines for medical device regulations. In doing so, they aim to align medical device regulations around the world. As a result of this movement, sale of contact lens across borders will be subject to prior certification or registration, which presents additional barrier for entry into foreign markets.

The U.S. FDA implemented the Unique Device Identifier (UDI) system in 2013 whereas the European Union promulgated the Medical Device Regulation in 2017 that raised the standard of medical device certification, traceability and clinical trial by a substantial degree. The IMDRF has implemented a Medical Device Single Audit Program (MDSAP). In order to improve the domestic medical equipment management system and bring medical equipment management in line with international standards and meet the needs of domestic practical management, Taiwan implemented the "Medical Devices Act" in 2021 to improve the domestic medical equipment management system. It is evident that more rigorous approaches are being undertaken around the domestic and world for the supervision and monitoring of medical device. All of the Company's products and quality management systems have met the requirements of local and international regulations, whereas the certifications needed to sell products have also been obtained by the Company or clients with our assistance. The Company has accumulated abundant experience to ensure effective control over application timing; therefore the change should work in the Company's favor.

3. The overall business environment

Overall, the Company expects to grow in line with the growth of the contact lens market in the future.

Lastly, we would like to thank the shareholders once again for their support to us, and hope for their ongoing guidance to St.Shine Optical in the future.

Best regards.

Chairman Ming-Hsien Chen

Please refer to "The Governing Principles" for more details.
4. The Company has adopted the abovementioned criteria to validate the effectiveness of its internal control system design and execution.

(6) Dividend policy and execution

1. Dividend policy stated in the Company's Articles of Incorporation:

- (1) The Company's earnings, if any, should be applied to pay taxes and make up for losses, and then 10% of the earnings shall be appropriated as legal reserve. However, when the legal reserve is equivalent to the paid-in capital, the appropriation of legal reserve can be ceased. In addition, the special reserve will be appropriated or reversed according to laws and regulations or depending on business needs. The remaining amount, if any, plus the accumulated undistributed earnings will be available for distribution according to the proposal of the Board of Directors. The issuance of new shares should be presented in the Shareholders Meeting for resolutions.

'A company may, by a resolution adopted by a majority of the shareholders present who represent two-thirds or more of the total number of its outstanding shares of the company, have the surplus profit distributable as dividends and bonuses in accordance with paragraph 5, Article 240 of the Company Act, or have the legal reserve and capital reserve in whole or in part may be paid in cash, and submitted to the shareholders' meeting in accordance with paragraph 1, Article 240 of the Company Act.

2. Execution situation

The company's surplus can be distributed by stocks or cash. Since the company's stocks have been listed in TPEx, the board of directors and the shareholders' meeting has resolved all (100%) cash dividends, and the distribution rate is between 65%~ 85%. In the future, the company expects to maintain a stable cash dividend distribution policy, and considers whether to distribute stock dividends depending on future funding needs and the degree of equity expansion.

3. Dividend distribution proposed for this board of directors:

The Company's 2022 earnings appropriation was passed during the board of directors meeting held on March 21, 2023. It has been passed to distribute cash dividends totaling NT$680,622,966 from 2022 undistributed earnings, which is equivalent to NT$13.5 per share. The board of directors will set another baseline date, cash dividend distribution date and other related matters.

Note: Others represent income from sale of raw materials

3. The Company's current products

The Company is primarily involved in the production and sale of disposable soft contact lenses. The Company's product portfolio comprises two main categories of contact lens, which are distinguishable by useful life:

(1) Conventional Contact Lens

Conventional contact lenses are lathe-cut. Depending on the hydrophilicity of the lens material, products can be further distinguished between Rigid Gas Permeable Contact Lens (RGP) and Conventional Soft Contact Lens. Depending on the corrective function and purpose, the lenses can be further distinguished between myopia, hyperopia, astigmatism and presbyopia. Conventional contact lenses usually have a useful life of 1~2 years.

(2) Disposable Soft Contact Lens

Disposable soft contact lenses are mostly cast-molded using permeable, soft material. Currently, the Company is capable of designing and producing disposable soft contact lenses of different water contact and structure. They are available in different disposal cycles including daily, weekly and monthly. Depending on the corrective function and purpose, the lenses can be further distinguished between myopia, hyperopia, astigmatism and presbyopia, and aberration control lenses and high definition lenses that are intended to enhance image quality. There are also colored contact lenses that change the color of the retina, and contact lenses that provide cosmetic effects.

Furthermore, cast-molded soft contact lenses can be made and sold in finished or semi-finished form to accommodate customers' requirements. Finished goods are lenses that have undergone all production steps and have been packaged and sterilized. Semi-finished products are dry lenses that have yet to be hydrated or removed from mold.

4. Sales location and model

The Company markets its products under a proprietary brand within the Greater China region. "Ticon®" is the brand under which products are marketed in Taiwan. For export sales, the Company designs and produces under customers' private labels. The Company's products are exported to Japan, Germany, UK, Canada, the Netherlands, Italy, and countries in Southeast Asia, the Middle East, Central/South America and Africa.

5. New products planned for the future

(1) Raw material development and design for Moisture Retarding Contact Lens

Amongst users that wear lenses for vision correction, 10% of whom are susceptible to dry eye syndrome (DES) and are unable to wear contact lenses for a long time. Furthermore, wearing contact lenses in high-latitude regions and for long periods of time in an air-conditioned environment can cause tears to evaporate, causing discomfort to the eye. The Company has introduced moisturized products with hyaluronic acid content, and will continue to work with contractors and customers to develop new formula for contact lens materials that would deliver long-term moisturization. This product will be sold domestically and in foreign markets to satisfy the needs of this particular group of consumers. In the future, the Company will continue exploring new materials that would achieve more effective moisturization at lower cost.

(2) Daily disposable contact lens with specific features

Daily disposable contact lenses have emerged to become one of the mainstream varieties of contact lens today as they do not require cleaning and maintenance, and can be disposed once used. Apart from spherical daily disposable contact lenses, which can be used to correct myopia/hyperopia, there are also other people who need daily disposable contact lenses with special features to correct astigmatism, presbyopia and for cosmetic purpose. In addition to the launch of toric daily disposable contact lens in 2008, cosmetic daily disposable contact lens with colored retina in 2010 and progressive multifocal daily disposable contact lens for users who have trouble adjusting between near/far objects in 2015, the Company continues to develop new daily disposable contact lenses to satisfy the needs of other user groups. Introduction of new contact lenses with special features should improve the Company's market penetration and market share.

(3) Development of silicone hydrogel" material

"Silicone hydrogel" offers the comfort of soft contact lens and high oxygen permeability of silicon lens, which allows users to wear for long periods of time without developing cornea disease. This feature makes it possible to develop a new variety of contact lenses called Extended Wear, one that users can wear to sleep without having to remove, clean and maintain everyday, while at the same time minimizing the harm that contact lenses can do to the eyes after long-term wear. Convenience, safety and comfort are the three main features for the next generation of contact lens material.

(2) Industry overview

1. Current and future industry prospects

(1) Current state of industry

Contact lens is recognized as medical device; its main purpose is to correct human vision and offers cosmetic benefits at the same time. From glass-based, polymethyl methacrylate (PMMA) and hard, uncomfortable materials in the early days, contact lens materials are progressing towards delivering high oxygen permeability and comfort, thus giving rise to the application of more comfortable and water permeable material called hydroxyethyl methacrylate (HEMA). Since then, the use of material has evolved from rigid gas permeable (RGP) to "silicone hydrogel" that enables more long-term wear. As for contact lens features, they have expanded from the correction of myopia and hyperopia to the correction of astigmatism and presbyopia, and high-end aberration correction in the latest development. The introduction of colored contact lenses also brings cosmetic function to the product.

The earliest users who tried out contact lenses out of curiosity are entering the age where they need correction for presbyopia. As a result, the market has increasing demand for functional lenses that offer features such as bifocal, multifocal etc. Demand in this respect is expected to grow at a rate of at least 10% yearly. As for colored contact lenses, their versatility to offer zero diopter or vision correction features has made them popular among young people, and are expected to sustain a growth rate of 5%~10% per year.

(2) Industry development

According to data provided by Contact Lens Spectrum, the size of the global contact lens market has been estimated at US$ 9.5 billion in 2022, and is growing at a steady rate each year except of years which are affected by the COVID-19.

Statistics have indicated two main reasons that drive the growth of the contact lens market. One of which is the "transition towards higher value and special feature lenses," including toric soft contact lens, multifocal contact lens for presbyopia, and colored contact lens for young people. This transition not only increases sales volume, but more importantly, it widens consumers' price tolerance and allows manufacturers to sell the additional features at higher margin. The second reason is the "ever-growing international market." Countries along the Pacific Ocean, especially Japan and Australia and Europe will see the highest growth in contact lens users. Emerging markets, too, have seen the percentage of contact lens users grow relative to the overall population in recent years due to strong economic development and strengthened spending power.

Due to environmental and regulatory differences, contact lenses have performed differently in various markets. GP lenses have achieved high market share in Japan, Germany and Israel, but only 10% in other countries. Daily disposable contact lenses exhibit the most diverse performance between markets. It's about 40% of wearers in the American continent choose daily disposable, compared to 50% in Europe; over 60% in Asia Pacific because of the cheap price. Toric and multifocal lenses, too, have performed differently in various markets. In some countries, the market share of spherical lenses exceeds toric lenses only marginally by 10%. There is virtually no market for GP lenses in China despite the country's rapid economic growth, and sale of daily disposable lenses is relatively low compared to other countries. Nearly 50% of users still prefer soft lenses of monthly or longer cycle. These differences will eventually create disequilibrium in the demand and supply of a single product within a particular region, a shortfall that most major brands adopting the global marketing approach can not react in time, which therefore creates opportunities for OEMs.

Contact lens is a more highly established industry in Taiwan compared to other biotech and medical device. According to statistics published by Customs of The Republic of China in the last 10 years, Taiwan's contact lens export has been increasing at a compound annual growth rate of more than 12%, which is nearly two times as high as the all-industry average of 5%. This shows that the local contact lens market is becoming less dependent upon imported goods. With the increase in market maturity and saturation, both imports and exports are gradually showing a flat trend.

2. Association between upstream, midstream, and downstream industry participants

Raw material suppliers represent the upstream of the contact lens industry. High polymers such as HEMA, EGDMA and NVP are the main chemicals used in the production of contact lens.

Contact lens manufacturers are mid-stream players of the industry. Those with R&D capabilities are able to purchase raw chemicals (such as: HEMA, EGDMA, NVP etc.) and produce contact lens materials using proprietary formula, while manufacturers without R&D capability can only purchase readily prepared materials from suppliers, and therefore have a limited choice of supply source.

Distributors represent the downstream of the industry, which can be further distinguished between retailers that interact directly with consumers, including optometrists, ophthalmologists, spectacle stores, pharmacies, supermarkets, mail order merchants and online merchants, and intermediaries that connect retailers to contact lens manufacturers, including regional distributors, physicians and consortium purchasers. Uprise of the Internet has made mail order and online order two very popular ways of purchasing contact lenses. Mail order and online merchants often skip the intermediaries and purchase directly from contact lens manufacturers for lower cost and availability; some have even merged or engaged the manufacturers to develop new, exclusive products. In countries where there are strict requirements that all contact lenses must be accompanied by a prescription, the purchasing procedures have been made too complicated to the point that consumers simply do not purchase contact lenses online or over mail order. These are the main areas where manufacturers may be in risk of losing customers or are presented with stagnant growth.

If a consumer wishes to purchase lathe-cut contact lenses at a retailer, the optometrist or physician will perform a refraction test, issue a prescription and place an order with the lathe-cutting manufacturer. The manufacturer then produces lenses according to the prescription and hands them over to the consumer via the optometrist/physician. If a consumer wishes to purchase disposable contact lenses, a set of mass-produced, standardized disposable contact lenses that match the prescription can be readily acquired at any retail channel.

3. Product trend and competition

(1) Product trends

A. Moisturized contact lenses

Cooper has launched a new contact lens material that contains phosphorylchlorine (PC) and made an FDA-certified claim about the material's benefits in preventing DES from wearing contact lenses. Alcon and Johnson & Johnson, on the other hand, have chosen to add moisturizing high polymers that gradually realize moisture to keep the surface moisturized. In light of how quickly these products have appealed to consumers' right after launch, the Company brought new selections to the market in 2007 with the launch of moisturized contact lenses with hyaluronic acid.

B. Colored lens

Apart from lenses that change the color of the cornea, there are also cosmetic lenses that make eyes appear larger like dolls, and hence the name - "doll eye contacts." After Johnson & Johnson launched its daily disposable "doll eye contacts" in Japan with the endorsement of Japanese celebrities, the product quickly gained the attention of Asian consumers, which posed significant impact on colored lenses in East Asia. In light of this challenge, the Company responded by introducing a similar product locally in 2008, and followed up with the introduction of daily disposable colored lenses that also achieve enlargement effects in 2010 to provide consumers with a broader selection.

C. "Silicone hydrogel" contact lenses

Colored and enlargement contact lenses are preferred by young people for their cosmetic effects, and are supported by strong, consistent demand. Meanwhile, contact lenses made from a new material called "silicone hydrogel," which offers both the comfort of ordinary hydrogel and high oxygen permeability of silicone, are increasingly popular in Europe and America.

"Silicone hydrogel" absorbs water, which helps maintain flexibility in the lens; in addition, hydrophilic treatment on the surface makes the lens easy to wear for users. Silicone hydrogel also offers high oxygen permeability (3~6 times that of ordinary hydrogel) that reduces the risk of corneal edema or eye diseases caused by lack of oxygen after wearing for long periods of time. The high oxygen permeability of silicone hydrogel makes it possible to develop a new variety of contact lenses called Extended Wear, one that users can wear to sleep without having to remove, clean and maintain every day, while at the same time minimizing the harm that contact lenses can do to the eyes after long-term wear.

The material and surface hydrophilicity of contact lenses have been improved continuously in recent years. New silicone hydrogel-based contact lenses with their appropriate hydrophilicity and high oxygen permeability have made the products easier to wear for longer periods in a single day without feeling dry. It is a solution that addresses comfort, health and safety all at the same time.

(2) Product competition

A. Product competition

Growth of the world's contact lens market is still dominated by the disposable variety (including daily, weekly, monthly and quarterly disposable lenses). Based on an overall analysis of available market data, daily disposable spherical lenses currently account for 50% of market share (gradually rise), while non-daily disposable spherical lenses are slightly below 20% (gradually decrease), and speciality lenses represent 30% of the market.

The strategy by Johnson & Johnson to launch weekly disposable silicone hydrogel-based contact lenses at low price has caused significant impact to the contact lens market. From USA to the rest of the world, silicone hydrogel is cannibalizing the market share of ordinary hydrogel. According to the market survey published in the annual reports of Cooper Company and Contact Lens Spectrum in 2020, silicone hydrogel-based lenses have captured a staggering 70% market share in the U.S., and demand is also rising progressively in Europe. In Asian markets, however, the high popularity and convenience of daily disposable lenses may have overshadowed the high oxygen permeability offered by silicone hydrogel. Johnson & Johnson recognized the differences of the European market and the deregulation that was happening in the UK, which was why it launched daily disposable silicone hydrogel lens first in the UK in 2008 as the first step towards growing demands for silicone hydrogel lenses in Europe. Companies including Alcon and Cooper soon followed and launched daily disposable silicone hydrogel lenses in Europe. As silicone hydrogel become popular, these multinational brands are starting to bring daily disposable silicone hydrogel lenses into American and Asian markets.

Demand for spherical soft lenses has saturated, prompting manufacturers to look towards special-purpose lenses for product and market segmentation. Special-purpose lenses with toric, bifocal, multifocal or progressive multifocal features account for two-fifths of the U.S. market. Toric lens provides consumers with more customized correction for astigmatism, and since approximately one-quarter of people with low vision in the U.S. require astigmatism correction, toric lens has been the fastest growing segment of all. Colored or cosmetic contact lenses are preferred by young people for their cosmetic effects, and are supported by strong, consistent demand.

As production technology evolves, production of disposable lenses becomes consistent, which enables manufacturers to shift production focus from monthly, weekly to daily disposable in the special-purpose lens segment. These daily disposable special-purpose lenses have the potential to increase overall penetration of disposable products and increase total market value. Meanwhile, introduction of moisturized daily disposable lenses should contribute towards expanding the market share of daily disposable lenses worldwide and compete head-to-head against silicone hydrogel-based products. If manufacturers are able to improve the success rate of disposable multifocal lenses for people with presbyopia and incorporate this moisturization technology into production, they may be able to slow down the rate at which silicone hydrogel is cannibalizing the market of ordinary hydrogel.

B. Market competition

Johnson & Johnson, Alcon, Cooper and Bausch & Lomb are the main suppliers of the contact lens market. Their aggressive marketing and promotion of proprietary brands in recent years have deprived distributors of profit margin and provoked intensive competition with local, private brand distributors for intermediaries and small/medium-size customers. In addition to making domestic and export sales under the proprietary brand, the Company also provides service as an ODM and produces products that are sold in other parts of the world under customers' brands. With flexible production capacity at its disposal and the support of customers' global marketing team, the Company has been able to market its products to Europe, America, Asia and Australia.

In Taiwan, advertising of daily disposable contact lenses was not approved by the Department of Health (now known as the Ministry of Health and Welfare) until 2003. Since then, manufactures including Johnson & Johnson, Bausch & Lomb and Alcon have made intensive efforts to advertise and promote daily disposable contact lenses in Taiwan. As a result, brand impression has become a key decision factor to consumers when choosing daily disposable products. In light of this development, the Company began advertising through media in 2007 to promote awareness of the proprietary brand - Ticon®. As time passes, the invested advertisements start to yield positive results, which are reflected in Ticon's® increasing market share in Taiwan. Deregulation on the advertisement of daily disposable lenses fueled the growth of contact lens in Taiwan. Based on data published by the customs authority, contact lens import has increased from 48.5 million pieces in 2003 to 266 million pieces in 2018, which is over 5 times over a period of 15 years.

As colored and enlargement lenses started to appeal to consumers in Asia, the Company introduced its own colored/enlargement lenses in Taiwan in June 2008 and subsequently followed up with new variety including fortnightly and daily disposables, thereby providing consumers with broader selections.

Furthermore, the Company will take initiative in the development of "silicone hydrogel" material to accommodate the world's product trends.

2. Share of the contact lens market

According to Contact Lens Spectrum's 2022 annual report, the size of the global contact lens market has been estimated at US$ 9.5 billion in 2022. Judging by the Company's annual revenues, the Company's worldwide market share is approximately 1.5%.

3. Future market supply, demand and growth

North America is currently the world's largest contact lens market, representing over 1/3 of global sales. Asian and European markets are comparable in size, and Japan alone represents about 20% of the sale, which makes it one of the world's major markets. Although Taiwan's population is relatively small compared to other markets, a significant portion of the population has been diagnosed with myopia, which makes consumers highly willing to spend on contact lenses. This is the main reason that Taiwan as a whole accounts for 2% of the world's contact lens demand, whereas other markets such as South America, Africa and Australia account for only 5%.

An analysis of growth prospects by region shows slow growth in the number of contact lens wearers in Europe and America, where consumers are more receptive to the more costly disposable contact lens; as a result, sales value has been rising steadily in the two markets. In Asia, where the number of people with myopia is high and utilization of contact lens is low, consumers are becoming more receptive to contact lenses, and the increasing number of wearers combined with rising amount of spending make Asia the market with high growth potentials. China, in particular, has a population of 1.3 billion and about 350 million of whom are diagnosed with myopia, but only less than 10% of people wear contact lenses, which is far lower than the 20% average exhibited by other developed nations. Given the rapid increase in consumers' receptiveness and spending towards contact lenses, China will undoubtedly become one of the fastest growing regions.

In terms of supply, the world's top-4 manufacturers (Johnson & Johnson, Alcon, Cooper and Bausch & Lomb) have all been expanding production capacity through acquisition or factory construction. Their product line expansion efforts are starting to yield results, as can be seen in the intensive competition among brands. In an attempt to secure market share and growth, all major brands have begun offering products with special features such as toric and multifocal lenses.

Competition among international contact lens brands has been extremely intensive in recent years. Their aggressive marketing and promotion of proprietary brands have deprived distributors of profit margin and provoked intensive competition with local, private brand distributors for intermediaries and small/medium-size customers. This growing discontent among distributors and small/medium-size customers toward international brands has presented the Company with a niche opportunity. The Company has deployed a comprehensive marketing network throughout Europe, America, Japan and the Greater China region. It has the production capacity to meet the needs of existing and potential customers.

4. Competitive advantage

(1) Mainstream cast-molding production

In 1987, Johnson & Johnson introduced the cast-molding technique that greatly increased the efficiency and reduced the cost of producing disposable contact lenses. Since then, all of the world's major manufacturers have adopted the cast-molding method for producing contact lenses. The Company had fully adopted the cast-molding approach when it first began production of disposable products. Owing to the efforts of the technology team, the Company was able to make products of consistent quality in mass volume, and became one of the few manufacturers in the world besides the top-4 to succeed in cast-molding production.

(2) Rigorous certification

Contact lenses are used on the human eye and have been considered as medical device. To ensure product safety, governments around the world have imposed strict review procedures on the production and sale of contact lenses. Industry participants often have to pass certification of the local government before engaging in related business activities. The certification generally comprises two aspects: system and product. The purpose of a system certification is to certify the quality of a company's operating procedures, and represents quality assurance on a broader sense. Product certification, on the other hand, aims to certify the quality of product sold, which requires long-term clinical data to be used as proof. All producers of medical device are required to obtain system certification and product sale permit before launching products to the market. Through efforts and experiences accumulated over the years, the management has successfully developed contact lenses of broad specifications and variety, and the products are being highly recognized for the vision correction benefits and the comfort they offer. In addition, the company has obtained international certification ISO 13485, EU EC Certificate, MDSAP, Taiwan QMS, US FDA (510k) and other multinational certifications. These certifications are a testament to the Company's excellent product quality, which will prove useful to the Company's efforts in expanding the domestic and overseas markets. Details are as follows:

(3) Ability to design products and develop production procedures

The main purpose of contact lens is to correct vision defects, for which the Company has committed significant resources into the development of raw materials, mold design and equipment research, while at the same time incorporating high polymers, optical technology, optometry knowledge, and new lens/mold design to bring clearer vision to contact lens wearers.

(4) Flexibility and responsiveness

The world's top-4 contact lens manufacturers all operate on a scale that far exceeds the Company's; however, their sizes make them less flexible. The Company, on the other hand, is founded on the success of the Taiwan market and approaches each foreign market with a very different strategy. The Company's persistence in delivering the highest quality, flexible pricing and customized product is well-supported by the local distribution, which enables fast decision-making and increased share in a highly competitive market.

(5) Effective marketing network

The Company has been focusing on the development of export sales in recent years in an attempt to expand global market share especially in Asian market. In order to establishing strong customer relations with customers, closer access to market information and gain ODM customers, the company has established subsidiaries in Shanghai and Japan.

(6) A highly experienced management team

The Company has been operating in the contact lens business for more than 20 years, and has accumulated strong experience over time. For further improvement of operational efficiency and business development, the Company will continue recruiting professional talents and support them with robust training, and ultimately enhance the Company's compliance and R&D capacity to provide better service for customers.

5. Future opportunities, threats, and responsive strategies

(1) Opportunities

A. Closed industry with high barrier of entry

The world's top-4 manufacturers of mainstream disposable contact lenses account for more than 90% of market share, and all of which are western companies. There are currently a very limited number of disposable contact lens manufacturers in the world, which makes the critical know-how difficult to obtain. Furthermore, the high degree of complexity, the broad variety of specifications and the extensive time taken for local health authorities to approve products all contribute to the high barrier of entry. The Company was founded in 1986 and began by focusing on the production of conventional lathe-cut lens. As disposable contact lenses emerged to become the market's mainstream, the Company responded to the change and commenced cast-molded production of disposable lenses in 1997. After many years of dedication to the business, the Company has established itself as Taiwan's largest and the world's 5th largest contact lens manufacturer. Given the competitive landscape and high barrier entry of the contact lens industry, it is extremely difficult for late comers to accomplish success in the short term.

B. Limited number of ODMs

All of the world's top-4 contact lens manufacturers have concentrated their efforts on promoting proprietary brands, and Cooper is the only company among them that provides ODM service on a small scale. These manufacturers have long neglected the ODM service because of the low margin and potential conflict with the proprietary brand. This prolonged absence of ODM service presents great opportunities for the Company. The Company has had success marketing its own brand in Taiwan, and acknowledges the fact that in order to venture abroad, it must begin by tapping into the ODM service that the big players have long neglected, which is why the Company has established close working relationship with distributors in Japan and Europe. This ODM approach has so far yielded positive results, and the Company will continue its plan to expand into the global market through this approach.

(2) Threats

A. Scarcity of professional talents

The contact lens industry is characterized by high barrier of entry and low number of participants. As a result, there is constant shortage in the supply of operational, business, R&D and production talents. Failure to recruit suitable talents will put the Company's growth in stagnation.

*Responsive strategies:

i. Enhance internal training and knowledge transfer

Members of the Company's management team all have more than 20 years of experience in the contact lens business. Through implementation of internal training and knowledge transfer systems the Company hopes to put its strong experience into good use and develop talents that can support the Company's growth.

ii. Recruit professional talents

For further improvement of operational efficiency and business development, the Company will continue recruiting professional talents and support them with robust training, and ultimately enhance the Company's compliance and R&D capacity to provide better service for customers.

B. Channel domination by international manufacturers

The world's top-4 manufacturers enjoy dominant brand awareness and aggregately account for a 90% share of the market. The remaining manufacturers are too small to compete with the large players, and therefore are unlikely to accomplish any rapid market expansion.

*Responsive strategies:

i. ODM service for local distributors

There are many dominant distributors around the world that are looking to launch contact lens brands of their own, but because the top manufacturers have all devoted focus on their own brands, the distributors' intentions have gone unnoticed for long period of time. This presents an entry into the international markets, one that the Company may exploit by combining its exceptional product quality with the influence of local distributors.

ii. Flexibility and responsiveness

The world's top-4 contact lens manufacturers have accumulated strong brand awareness over time, but because they operate on such a large scale and have a strong brand image to maintain, they tend to be inflexible in terms of business operation. The Company, on the other hand, is founded on the success of the Taiwan market and approaches each foreign market with a very different strategy. The Company has the flexibility to provide ODM service for local distributors in one region while at the same time introduce its proprietary brand in another. Combined with a flexible pricing strategy and the ability to make quick decisions, the Company will be able to work closely with downstream customers to secure its foothold in overseas markets.

(2) Main product applications and production processes

1. Main product applications

Contact lens is the Company's primary product. The lenses are made from high polymer and are used to cover the cornea to correct vision defects such as myopia, hyperopia, astigmatism and presbyopia. Apart from their corrective functions, contact lenses are also used for cosmetic purposes such as changing the color of the cornea.

2. Production processes of main products

Disposable soft contact lens adopts cast-molding technology. It begins by designing a metallic mold for a particular lens; this metallic mold is then used to produce plastic molds in large quantity. Raw material is injected into plastic molds where it is pressed and heated to shape. The product is then removed from mold to undergo several procedures including hydration, testing, packaging and sterilization until completion.

Cast-molding procedures for disposable soft contact lenses

(3) Supply of key materials:

Key materials used in products include: HEMA/BLANK, saline solution, plastic container, PP, aluminum foil and packaging materials. The Company has established strong, long-term relationship with major suppliers local and abroad, and therefore considers the source of its supply to be abundant and sustainable.

6. Evaluation of risk management issues in the last year (2022) up until the publication date of this annual report

(1) Impact of interest rate, exchange rate, and inflation on the company's earnings, and responsive measures

1. Impacts of interest rate variations to the Company's profit and loss, and responsive measures in the future

① Interest rate changes:

The Company borrows short-term loan on credit and long-term loan against mortgage from banks to finance its working capital requirements. As a result, any change in interest rate would affect profitability in the given year. Effect of interest income and interest expense on the Company's operating profit in 2022 and 2021 is presented below:

Unit: NTD thousands
Item	2022	2021
Interest income A	11,836	2,223
Interest expense B	9,790	10,515
Operating profit C	1,072,647	1,231,287

Item	2022	2021
Interest income as a percentage of operating profit (A/C)	1.10%	0.18%
Interest expense as a percentage of operating profit (B/C)	0.91%	0.85%

② Responsive measures for interest rate changes:

- (1) The Company monitors interest rate changes on a daily basis, and takes appropriate measures in a timely manner.
- (2) When interest rate falls, the Company borrows at a lower rate to re-finance higher interest rate loans; when interest rate rises to the point that is likely to erode overall profitability, the Company will consider raising capital through cash issue at premium.

2. Exchange rate changes

① Impact of exchange rate variation on the Company's revenues and profitability:

Unit: NTD thousands
Item	2022	2021
Net gain/loss on exchange A	193,332	(89,004)
Operating revenues B	5,003,499	5,401,607
Operating profit C	1,072,647	1,231,287
Net gain/loss on exchange as a percentage of operating revenues (A/B)	3.86%	(1.65)%
Net gain/loss on exchange as a percentage of operating profit (A/C)	18.02%	(7.23)%

The Company's product lines consist mainly of soft contact lens. Products are sold domestically and exported overseas to countries in Europe, America and Asia. Most export transactions are denominated in USD and EUR, therefore any change in exchange rate would affect profitability in the current period. As shown in the above table, the Company incurred 193,332 thousands NTD of gain on foreign exchange that represented 3.86% of operating revenues and 18.02% of operating profit in 2022 due to appreciation of the NTD currency.

② Hedging measures undertaken by the Company:

- (1) The Treasury Department not only maintains close communication with foreign currency departments of various banks, but also monitors market exchange rates, trends and changes constantly to minimize adverse impacts.
- (2) Effects of exchange rate variation are taken into consideration when offering quotes to customers. The Company adopts a conservative estimate and two-way exchange rate in this regard in order to minimize the impacts that exchange rate volatility may have on product margin.
- (3) The Company has foreign currency time deposit accounts established with partnered banks. Foreign currency holding positions are adjusted as required to minimize impact of exchange rate changes.

3. Inflation/deflation

The Company also pays constant attention to the price of raw materials and maintains close interaction with suppliers, which prevents the Company's profits from being eroded due to change in raw material costs.

CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS AND
INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT
DECEMBER 31, 2022 AND 2021

For the convenience of readers and for information purpose only, the auditors' report and the accompanying financial statements have been translated into English from the original Chinese version prepared and used in the Republic of China. In the event of any discrepancy between the English version and the original Chinese version or any differences in the interpretation of the two versions, the Chinese-language auditors' report and financial statements shall prevail.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of St. Shine Optical Co., Ltd.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of St. Shine Optical Co., Ltd. and its subsidiaries (the “Group”) as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related consolidated statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the consolidated financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Group as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its consolidated financial performance and its consolidated cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Group in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole and, in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Group's 2022 consolidated financial statements are stated as follows:

Key audit matter - Appropriateness of timing of sales revenue recognition

Description

Refer to Note 4(25) for accounting policy on revenue recognition and Note 6(15) for the details of sales revenue.

The Group's revenue is primarily from export of goods. Sales revenue is recognised when the control of the products has transferred to the customers based on the information listed in the export declaration. As the procedures for the timing of revenue recognition involves the manual checking of the status of delivery and related documents, this may lead to some errors in the timing of revenue recognition near the end of the financial reporting date. Thus, we considered the appropriateness of timing of sales revenue recognition as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

1. Obtained an understanding of, assessed and tested management's internal control procedures on revenue recognition, and confirmed whether the related internal controls were reasonable and operating effectively.
2. Performed cut-off test on sales revenue transactions, including checking the order terms, export declaration and delivery information in order to confirm whether the accounting treatment of revenue recognition timing was appropriate.

Key audit matter - Assessment of allowance for inventory valuation losses

Description

Refer to Note 4(12) for the accounting policy on inventory valuation, Note 5 for accounting estimates and assumption uncertainty in relation to inventory valuation, and Note 6(4) for the details of allowance for inventory valuation losses.

The Group is primarily engaged in manufacturing and trading of contact lenses. As the contact lenses market is competitive, frequent releases of new products result in potential price fluctuations and product marginalization in the market. These factors may affect the estimation of the net realisable values of inventories.

The Group's inventories are measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value, which involves subjective judgment resulting in a high degree of estimation uncertainty. Thus, we considered the assessment of allowance for inventory valuation losses as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

1. Assessed the reasonableness of provision policies and procedures on allowance for inventory valuation losses, including inventory clearance, the reasonableness of obsolete inventory, and the consistency of accounting estimates.
2. Tested the statements prepared by the Group to verify whether the information that the Group used to calculate inventory valuation loss was consistent with the Group's policy, sampled individual part numbers to verify whether the selling price and net realisable value were calculated correctly, and assessed the reasonableness of allowance for inventory valuation losses.
3. Verified the appropriateness of system logic used in the Company's inventory aging reports to confirm whether the information on the reports is consistent with its policies.
4. Selected samples of individual inventory item numbers and checked them against historical data on inventory clearance and discount, compared the samples against prior allowance for inventory valuation losses and referred to subsequent transactions in order to assess the reasonableness of the Company's allowance for inventory valuation losses.

Other matter – Parent company only financial reports

We have audited and expressed an unqualified opinion on the parent company only financial statements of St. Shine Optical Co., Ltd. as at and for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the "Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers" and the International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the Financial Supervisory Commission, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the consolidated financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.

4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the consolidated financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the consolidated financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the consolidated financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our auditors' report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

4. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The principal accounting policies applied in the preparation of these consolidated financial statements are set out below. These policies have been consistently applied to all the periods presented, unless otherwise stated.

(1) Compliance statement

The consolidated financial statements of the Group have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, International Financial Reporting Standards, International Accounting Standards, IFRIC Interpretations, and SIC Interpretations that came into effect as endorsed by the FSC (collectively referred herein as the “IFRSs”).

(2) Basis of preparation

- A. The consolidated financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, except for defined benefit liabilities recognised based on the net amount of pension fund assets less present value of defined benefit obligation.
- B. The preparation of financial statements in conformity with IFRSs requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the Group’s accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the consolidated financial statements are disclosed in Note 5.

(3) Basis of consolidation

A. Basis for preparation of consolidated financial statements:

- (a) All subsidiaries are included in the Group’s consolidated financial statements. Subsidiaries are all entities (including structured entities) controlled by the Group. The Group controls an entity when the Group is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the entity. Consolidation of subsidiaries begins from the date the Group obtains control of the subsidiaries and ceases when the Group loses control of the subsidiaries.
- (b) Inter-company transactions, balances and unrealised gains or losses on transactions between companies within the Group are eliminated. Accounting policies of subsidiaries have been adjusted where necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Group.
- (c) Profit or loss and each component of other comprehensive income are attributed to the owners of the parent and to the non-controlling interests. Total comprehensive income is attributed to the owners of the parent and to the non-controlling interests even if this results in the non-controlling interests having a deficit balance.
- (d) Changes in a parent’s ownership interest in a subsidiaries that do not result in the parent losing control of the subsidiary (transactions with non-controlling interest) are accounted for as equity transactions, i.e. transactions with owners in their capacity as owners. Any difference between the amount by which the non-controlling interests are adjusted and the fair value of the consideration paid or received is recognised directly in equity.

- (e) When the Group loses control of a subsidiary, the Group remeasures any investment retained in the former subsidiary at its fair value. That fair value is regarded as the fair value on initial recognition of a financial asset or the cost on initial recognition of the associate or joint venture. Any difference between fair value and carrying amount is recognised in profit or loss. All amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income in relation to the subsidiary are reclassified to profit or loss on the same basis as would be required if the related assets or liabilities were disposed of. That is, when the Group loses control of a subsidiary, all gains or losses previously recognised in other comprehensive income in relation to the subsidiary should be reclassified from equity to profit or loss, if such gains or losses would be reclassified to profit or loss when the related assets or liabilities are disposed of.

B. Subsidiaries included in the consolidated financial statements:

(4) Foreign currency translation

Items included in the consolidated financial statements of each of the Group's entities are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (the "functional currency"). The consolidated financial statements are presented in New Taiwan dollars, which is the Company's functional and the Group's presentation currency.

A. Foreign currency transactions and balances

- (a) Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions or valuation where items are remeasured. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.
- (b) Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the period end are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date. Exchange differences arising upon re-translation at the balance sheet date are recognised in profit or loss.
- (c) Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies held at fair value through profit or loss are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date; their translation differences are recognised in profit or loss. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies held at fair value through other comprehensive income are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date; their translation differences are recognised in other comprehensive income. However, non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are not measured at fair value are translated using the historical exchange rates at the dates of the initial transactions.
- (d) All foreign exchange gains and losses are presented in the statement of comprehensive income within 'other gains and losses'.

B. Translation of foreign operations

- (a) The operating results and financial position of all the group entities that have a functional currency different from the presentation currency are translated into the presentation currency as follows:
 - i. Assets and liabilities for each balance sheet presented are translated at the closing exchange rate at the date of that balance sheet;
 - ii. Income and expenses for each statement of comprehensive income are translated at average exchange rates of that period; and

- iii. All resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income.
- (b) When the foreign operation partially disposed of or sold is a subsidiary, cumulative exchange differences that were recorded in other comprehensive income are proportionately transferred to the non-controlling interest in this foreign operation. In addition, even when the Group retains partial interest in the former foreign subsidiary after losing control of the former foreign subsidiary, such transactions should be accounted for as disposal of all interest in the foreign operation.

(5) Classification of current and non-current items

- A. Assets that meet one of the following criteria are classified as current assets:
- (a) Assets arising from operating activities that are expected to be realised, or are intended to be sold or consumed within the normal operating cycle;
 - (b) Assets held mainly for trading purposes;
 - (c) Assets that are expected to be realised within twelve months from the balance sheet date;
 - (d) Cash and cash equivalents, excluding restricted cash and cash equivalents and those that are to be exchanged or used to settle liabilities more than twelve months after the balance sheet date.

Otherwise they are classified as non-current assets.

- B. Liabilities that meet one of the following criteria are classified as current liabilities:
- (a) Liabilities that are expected to be settled within the normal operating cycle;
 - (b) Liabilities arising mainly from trading activities;
 - (c) Liabilities that are to be settled within twelve months from the balance sheet date;
 - (d) Liabilities for which the repayment date cannot be extended unconditionally to more than twelve months after the balance sheet date. Terms of a liability that could, at the option of the counterparty, result in its settlement by the issue of equity instruments do not affect its classification.

Otherwise they are classified as non-current liabilities.

(6) Cash equivalents

- A. Cash equivalents refer to short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.
- B. Time deposits that meet the definition above and are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments in operations are classified as cash equivalents.

(7) Financial assets at amortised cost

- A. Financial assets at amortised cost are those that meet all of the following criteria:
- (a) The objective of the Group's business model is achieved by collecting contractual cash flows.

(b) The assets' contractual cash flows represent solely payments of principal and interest.

B. On a regular way purchase or sale basis, financial assets at amortised cost are recognised and derecognised using settlement date accounting.

C. At initial recognition, the Group measures the financial assets at fair value plus transaction costs. Interest income from these financial assets is included in finance income using the effective interest method. A gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised or impaired.

D. The Group's time deposits which do not fall under cash equivalents are those with a short maturity period and are measured at initial investment amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(8) Accounts and notes receivable

A. Accounts and notes receivable entitle the Group a legal right to receive consideration in exchange for transferred goods or rendered services.

B. The short-term accounts and notes receivable without bearing interest are subsequently measured at initial invoice amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(9) Impairment of financial assets

For accounts receivable that have a significant financing component, at each balance sheet date, the Group recognises the impairment provision for 12 months expected credit losses if there has not been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition or recognises the impairment provision for the lifetime expected credit losses (ECLs) if such credit risk has increased since initial recognition after taking into consideration all reasonable and verifiable information that includes forecasts. On the other hand, for accounts receivable or contract assets that do not contain a significant financing component, the Group recognises the impairment provision for lifetime ECLs.

(10) Derecognition of financial assets

The Group derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to receive the cash flows from the financial asset expire.

(11) Leasing arrangements (lessor)—operating leases

Lease income from an operating lease (net of any incentives given to the lessee) is recognised in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

(12) Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined using the weighted-average method. The cost of finished goods and work in progress comprises raw materials, direct labor, other direct costs and related production overheads (allocated based on normal operating capacity). It excludes borrowing costs. The item by item approach is used in applying the lower of cost and net realisable value. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated cost of completion and applicable variable selling expenses.

(13) Investments accounted for using equity method / associates

- A. Associates are all entities over which the Group has significant influence but not control. In general, it is presumed that the investor has significant influence, if an investor holds, directly or indirectly 20 percent or more of the voting power of the investee. Investments in associates are accounted for using the equity method and are initially recognised at cost.
- B. The Group's share of its associates' post-acquisition profits or losses is recognised in profit or loss, and its share of post-acquisition movements in other comprehensive income is recognised in other comprehensive income. When the Group's share of losses in an associate equals or exceeds its interest in the associate, including any other unsecured receivables, the Group does not recognise further losses, unless it has incurred legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the associate.
- C. When changes in an associate's equity do not arise from profit or loss or other comprehensive income of the associate and such changes do not affect the Group's ownership percentage of the associate, the Group recognises change in ownership interests in the associate in 'capital surplus' in proportion to its ownership.
- D. Unrealised gains on transactions between the Group and its associates are eliminated to the extent of the Group's interest in the associates. Unrealised losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the asset transferred. Accounting policies of associates have been adjusted where necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Group.
- F. When the Group disposes its investment in an associate and loses significant influence over this associate, the amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income in relation to the associate, are reclassified to profit or loss, on the same basis as would be required if the relevant assets or liabilities were disposed of. If it retains significant influence over this associate, the amounts previously recognised in other comprehensive income in relation to the associate are reclassified to profit or loss proportionately in accordance with the aforementioned approach.

(14) Property, plant and equipment

- A. Property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. Borrowing costs incurred during the construction period are capitalised.
- B. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Group and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the financial period in which they are incurred.

- C. Land is not depreciated. Other property, plant and equipment apply cost model and are depreciated using the straight-line method to allocate their cost over their estimated useful lives. Each part of an item of property, plant, and equipment with a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item must be depreciated separately.
- D. The assets' residual values, useful lives and depreciation methods are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at each financial year-end. If expectations for the assets' residual values and useful lives differ from previous estimates or the patterns of consumption of the assets' future economic benefits embodied in the assets have changed significantly, any change is accounted for as a change in estimate under IAS 8, 'Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors', from the date of the change. The estimated useful lives of property, plant and equipment are as follows:

Buildings	40 ~ 55 years
Machinery and equipment	3 ~ 13 years
Transportation equipment	3 ~ 6 years
Office equipment	4 ~ 6 years
Other equipment	3 ~ 15 years

(15) Leasing arrangements (lessee) - right-of-use assets / lease liabilities

- A. Leases are recognised as a right-of-use asset and a corresponding lease liability at the date at which the leased asset is available for use by the Group. For short-term leases or leases of low-value assets, lease payments are recognised as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.
- B. Lease liabilities include the net present value of the remaining lease payments at the commencement date, discounted using the incremental borrowing interest rate. Lease payments are comprised of fixed payments, less any lease incentives receivable. The Group subsequently measures the lease liability at amortised cost using the interest method and recognises interest expense over the lease term. The lease liability is remeasured and the amount of remeasurement is recognised as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset when there are changes in the lease term or lease payments and such changes do not arise from contract modifications.
- C. At the commencement date, the right-of-use asset is stated at cost comprising the following:
- (a) The amount of the initial measurement of lease liability;
 - (b) Any lease payments made at or before the commencement date; and
 - (c) Any initial direct costs incurred by the lessee.

The right-of-use asset is measured subsequently using the cost model and is depreciated from the commencement date to the earlier of the end of the asset's useful life or the end of the lease term. When the lease liability is remeasured, the amount of remeasurement is recognised as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset.

D. For lease modifications that decrease the scope of the lease, the lessee shall decrease the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset to reflect the partial or full termination of the lease, and recognise the difference between remeasured lease liability in profit or loss.

(16) Intangible assets

Intangible assets, mainly computer software, are amortised on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives of 2~20 years.

(17) Impairment of non-financial assets

The Group assesses at each balance sheet date the recoverable amounts of those assets where there is an indication that they are impaired. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell or value in use. When the circumstances or reasons for recognising impairment loss for an asset in prior years no longer exist or diminish, the impairment loss is reversed. The increased carrying amount due to reversal should not be more than what the depreciated or amortised historical cost would have been if the impairment had not been recognised.

(18) Borrowings

Borrowings comprise long-term and short-term bank borrowings. Borrowings are recognised initially at fair value, net of transaction costs incurred. Borrowings are subsequently stated at amortised cost; any difference between the proceeds (net of transaction costs) and the redemption value is recognised in profit or loss over the period of the borrowings using the effective interest method.

(19) Notes and accounts payable

A. Accounts payable are liabilities for purchases of raw materials, goods or services and notes payable are those resulting from operating and non-operating activities.

B. The short-term notes and accounts payable without bearing interest are subsequently measured at initial invoice amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(20) Derecognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation specified in the contract is either discharged or cancelled or expires.

(21) Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and reported in the net amount in the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(22) Employee benefits

A. Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits are measured at the undiscounted amount of the benefits expected to be paid in respect of service rendered by employees in a period and should be recognised as expense in that period when the employees render service.

B. Pensions

(a) Defined contribution plans

For defined contribution plans, the contributions are recognised as pension expense when they are due on an accrual basis. Prepaid contributions are recognised as an asset to the extent of a cash refund or a reduction in the future payments.

(b) Defined benefit plans

- i. Net obligation under a defined benefit plan is defined as the present value of an amount of pension benefits that employees will receive on retirement for their services with the Company in current period or prior periods. The liability recognised in the balance sheet in respect of defined benefit pension plans is the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the balance sheet date less the fair value of plan assets. The net defined benefit obligation is calculated annually by independent actuaries using the projected unit credit method. The rate used to discount is determined by using interest rates of government bonds (at the balance sheet date) of a currency and term consistent with the currency and term of the employment benefit obligations.
- ii. Remeasurements arising on defined benefit plans are recognised in other comprehensive income in the period in which they arise and are recorded as retained earnings.
- iii. Past service costs are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

C. Employees' compensation and directors' and supervisors' remuneration

Employees' compensation and directors' and supervisors' remuneration are recognised as expense and liability, provided that such recognition is required under legal or constructive obligation and those amounts can be reliably estimated. Any difference between the resolved amounts and the subsequently actual distributed amounts is accounted for as changes in estimates.

(23) Income tax

- A. The tax expense for the period comprises current and deferred tax. Tax is recognised in profit or loss, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or items recognised directly in equity, in which cases the tax is recognised in other comprehensive income or equity.
- B. The current income tax expense is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date in the countries where the Group operates and generates taxable income. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in tax returns with respect to situations in accordance with applicable tax regulations. It establishes provisions where appropriate based on the amounts expected to be paid to the tax authorities. An additional tax is levied on the unappropriated retained earnings and is recorded as income tax expense in the year the shareholders resolve to retain the earnings.

- C. Deferred tax is recognised, using the balance sheet liability method, on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the parent company only balance sheet. However, the deferred tax is not accounted for if it arises from initial recognition of goodwill or of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss. Deferred tax is provided on temporary differences arising on investments in subsidiaries, except where the timing of the reversal of the temporary difference is controlled by the Company and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax is determined using tax rates (and laws) that have been enacted or substantially enacted by the balance sheet date and are expected to apply when the related deferred tax asset is realised or the deferred tax liability is settled.
- D. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised. At each balance sheet date, unrecognised and recognised deferred tax assets are reassessed.
- E. Current income tax assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset on the balance sheet when the entity has the legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities and they are levied by the same taxation authority on either the same entity or different entities that intend to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(24) Dividends

Dividends are recorded in the Company's financial statements in the period in which they are resolved by the Company's Board of Directors. Cash dividends are recorded as liabilities.

(25) Revenue recognition

Sales of goods

- A. The Group manufactures and sells a range of contact lenses. Sales are recognised when control of the products has transferred, being when the products are delivered to the customer, the customer has full discretion over the channel and price to sell the products, and there is no unfulfilled obligation that could affect the customer's acceptance of the products. Delivery occurs when the products have been shipped to the specific location, the risks of obsolescence and loss have been transferred to the customer, and either the customer has accepted the products in accordance with the sales contract, or the Group has objective evidence that all criteria for acceptance have been satisfied.

- B. Revenue from these sales is recognised based on the price specified in the contract, net of the estimated volume discounts and sales discounts and allowances. The sales usually are made with a credit term of 30 to 90 days, which is consistent with market practice. As the time interval between the transfer of committed goods or services and the payment of customer does not exceed one year, the Group does not adjust the transaction price to reflect the time value of money.
- C. A receivable is recognised when the goods are delivered as this is the point in time that the consideration is unconditional because only the passage of time is required before the payment is due.

(26) Operating segments

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker. The Group's chief operating decision maker, who is responsible for allocating resources and assessing performance of the operating segments, has been identified as the Board of Directors that makes strategic decisions.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS, ESTIMATES AND KEY SOURCES OF ASSUMPTION UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of these consolidated financial statements requires management to make critical judgements in applying the Group's accounting policies and make critical assumptions and estimates concerning future events. Assumptions and estimates may differ from the actual results and are continually evaluated and adjusted based on historical experience and other factors. Such assumptions and estimates have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year; and the related information is addressed below:

Critical accounting estimates and assumptions - evaluation of inventories

As inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value, the Group must determine the net realisable value of inventories on balance sheet date using judgements and estimates. The Group evaluates the amounts of normal inventory consumption, obsolete inventories or inventories without market selling value on balance sheet date, and writes down the cost of inventories to the net realisable value. Such an evaluation of inventories is principally based on the demand for the products within the specified period in the future. Therefore, there might be material changes to the evaluation.

As of December 31, 2022, the carrying amount of inventories was $1,327,345.

(11) Pensions

A. (a) The Company has a defined benefit pension plan in accordance with the Labor Standards Act, covering all regular employees' service years prior to the enforcement of the Labor Pension Act on July 1, 2005 and service years thereafter of employees who chose to continue to be subject to the pension mechanism under the Act. Under the defined benefit pension plan, two units are accrued for each year of service for the first 15 years and one unit for each additional year thereafter, subject to a maximum of 45 units. Pension benefits are based on the number of units accrued and the average monthly salaries and wages of the last 6 months prior to retirement. The Company contributes monthly an amount equal to 2% of the employees' monthly salaries and wages to the retirement fund deposited with Bank of Taiwan, the trustee, under the name of the independent retirement fund committee. Also, the Company would assess the balance in the aforementioned labor pension reserve account by December 31, every year. If the account balance is insufficient to pay the pension calculated by the aforementioned method to the employees expected to qualify for retirement in the following year, the Company will make contributions for the deficit by next March.

(d) The Bank of Taiwan was commissioned to manage the Fund of the Company's defined benefit pension plan in accordance with the Fund's annual investment and utilisation plan and the "Regulations for Revenues, Expenditures, Safeguard and Utilisation of the Labor Retirement Fund" (Article 6: The scope of utilisation for the Fund includes deposit in domestic or foreign financial institutions, investment in domestic or foreign listed, over-the-counter, or private placement equity securities, investment in domestic or foreign real estate securitisation products, etc.). With regard to the utilisation of the Fund, its minimum earnings in the annual distributions on the final financial statements shall be no less than the earnings attainable from the amounts accrued from two-year time deposits with the interest rates offered by local banks. If the earnings is less than aforementioned rates, government shall make payment for the deficit after being authorised by the Regulator. The Company has no right to participate in managing and operating that fund and hence the Company is unable to disclose the classification of plan assets fair value in accordance with IAS 19 paragraph 142. (e) The principal actuarial assumptions used were as follows:

	For the years ended December 31,
	2022	2021
Discount rate	1.30%	0.70%
Future salary increase rate	3.00%	3.00%

Future mortality rate was estimated based on the 6th Taiwan Standard Ordinary Experience Mortality Table.

Because the main actuarial assumption changed, the present value of defined benefit obligation is affected. The analysis was as follows:

	Discount rate		Future salary increase rate
	Increase 0.25%	Decrease 0.25%	Increase 0.25%	Decrease 0.25%
December 31, 2022
Effect on present value of defined benefit obligation	($ 3,673)	$ 3,804	$ 3,363	($ 3,270)
December 31, 2021
Effect on present value of defined benefit obligation	($ 4,394)	$ 4,563	$ 4,047	($ 3,927)

The sensitivity analysis above is based on one assumption which changed while the other conditions remain unchanged. In practice, more than one assumption may change all at once. The method of analysing sensitivity and the method of calculating net pension liability in the balance sheet are the same.

The methods and types of assumptions used in preparing the sensitivity analysis did not change compared to the previous period.

(1) Capital management

The Group's objectives when managing capital are to safeguard the Group's ability to continue as a going concern in order to provide returns for shareholders and to maintain an optimal capital structure to reduce the cost of capital. In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Group may adjust the amount of dividends paid to shareholders, return capital to shareholders, issue new shares or sell assets to reduce debt. The Group monitors capital on the basis of the gearing ratio. This ratio is calculated as total borrowings divided by total capital. Total borrowings is calculated as ‘current and non-current borrowings’ as shown in the consolidated balance sheet. Total capital is calculated as equity as shown in the consolidated balance sheet plus total borrowings.

During the year ended December 31, 2022, the Group’s strategy, which was unchanged from 2021, was to maintain the gearing ratio within a stable range. The gearing ratios at December 31, 2022 and 2021 were as follows:

B. Financial risk management policies

- (a) The Group's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.
- (b) Risk management is carried out by the Group's treasury department ("Group treasury") under policies approved by the Board of Directors. Group treasury identifies, evaluates and hedges financial risks in close cooperation with the Group's operating department. The Group provides written principles for overall risk management, as well as written policies covering specific areas and matters, such as foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, use of non-derivative financial instruments, and investment of excess liquidity.

C. Significant financial risks and degrees of financial risks

(a) Market risk

Foreign exchange risk

- i. The Group operates internationally and is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from the transactions of the Company and its subsidiaries used in various functional currency, primarily with respect to the USD. Foreign exchange risk arises from future commercial transactions and recognised assets and liabilities.
- ii. Management has set up a policy to require group companies to manage their foreign exchange risk against their functional currency. The companies are required to hedge their entire foreign exchange risk exposure with the Group treasury.
- iii. The Group's businesses involve some non-functional currency operations. The information on assets denominated in foreign currencies whose values would be materially affected by the exchange rate fluctuations is as follows:

- iv. The total exchange gain (loss), including realised and unrealised, arising from significant foreign exchange variation on the monetary items held by the Group for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 amounted to $193,332 and ($89,004), respectively.

Cash flow and fair value interest rate risk

- i. The Group's main interest rate risk arises from long-term borrowings with variable rates, which expose the Group to cash flow interest rate risk. During 2022 and 2021, the Group's borrowings at variable rate were mainly denominated in New Taiwan dollars.

- ii. The Group's borrowings are measured at amortised cost. The borrowings are periodically contractually repriced and to that extent are also exposed to the risk of future changes in market interest rates.
- iii. If the borrowing interest rate of New Taiwan dollars had increased/decreased by 1% with all other variables held constant, profit before tax for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have decreased/increased by $4,948 and $6,867, respectively. The main factor is that changes in interest expense result from floating rate borrowings.

(b) Credit risk

- i. Credit risk refers to the risk of financial loss to the Group arising from default by the clients or counterparties of financial instruments on the contract obligations. The main factor is that counterparties could not repay in full the accounts receivable based on the agreed terms.
- ii. The Group manages its credit risk taking into consideration the entire group's concern. According to the Group's credit policy, each local entity in the Group is responsible for managing and analysing the credit risk for each of their new clients before standard payment and delivery terms and conditions are offered. Internal risk control assesses the credit quality of the customers, taking into account their financial position, past experience and other factors. Individual risk limits are set based on internal or external ratings in accordance with limits set by the Board of Directors. The utilisation of credit limits is regularly monitored.
- iii. The default occurs when the contract payments are past due over 180 days.
- iv. If the contract payments were past due over 30 days based on the terms, there has been a significant increase in credit risk on that instrument since initial recognition.
- v. The Group classifies customer's accounts receivable in accordance with customer types. The Group applies the simplified approach using the provision matrix and loss rate methodology to estimate expected credit loss.
- vi. The Group wrote-off the financial assets, which cannot reasonably be expected to be recovered, after initiating recourse procedures. However, the Group will continue executing the recourse procedures to secure their rights.
- vii.(i) The Group used the forecastability of global economic information to adjust historical and timely information to assess the default possibility of notes and accounts receivable arising from general credit rating customers. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the provision matrix is as follows:

December 31, 2022		1-30 days	31-60 days	61-90 days	91-180 days	Over 181 days	Total
	Not past due	past due	past due	past due	past due	past due
Expected loss rate	0.20%- 0.43%	1.52%- 11.75%	15.62%- 17.37%	46.88%- 69.03%	58.61%- 90.05%	100%
Total book value	$ 574,325	$ 40,240	$ 24,865	$ 3,665	$ -	$ 652	$ 643,747

December 31, 2021		1-30 days	31-60 days	61-90 days	91-180 days	Over 181 days	Total
	Not past due	past due	past due	past due	past due	past due

Total book value	$ 824,165	$ 78,702	$ 4,449	$ 2,886	$ 869	$ 672	$ 911,743
Loss allowance	4,614	4,144	935	1,536	719	672	12,620

(ii) The Group individually assesses the customers that have low credit rating and default. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the carrying amount of accounts receivable with low credit rating amounted to $14,550 and $16,003, respectively, and the Group has provided loss allowance amounting to $14,550 and $16,003, respectively.

(iii) The Group assessed notes receivable from customers individually. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the carrying amount of notes receivable and provision for loss allowance amounted to $4,494 and $3,983, $0 and $12, respectively.

(iv) The Group assessed other receivables from sales-related customers based on the loss rate. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the total carrying amount of other receivables and provision for loss allowance amounted to $1,094 and $3,353, $243 and $0, respectively.

viii. Movements in relation to the Group applying the simplified approach to provide loss allowance for notes, accounts and other receivables are as follows:

	2022
	Notes receivable	Accounts receivable	Other receivables	Total
At January 1	$ 12	$ 28,623	$ -	$ 28,635
Provision for impairment	-	-	243	243
Reversal of impairment loss	(12)	(4,327)	-	(4,339)
At December 31	$ -	$ 24,296	$ 243	$ 24,539

	2021
	Notes receivable	Accounts receivable	Other receivables	Total

At December 31	$ 12	$ 28,623	$ -	$ 28,635

For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the expected credit impairment gain on notes, accounts and other receivables arising from customers' contracts amounted to $4,096 and $21,110, respectively.

(c) Liquidity risk

- i. Cash flow forecasting is performed in the operating departments of the Group and aggregated by Group treasury. Group treasury monitors rolling forecasts of the Group's liquidity requirements to ensure it has sufficient cash to meet operational needs and liabilities at maturity.
- ii. Group treasury invests surplus cash in interest bearing current accounts and time deposits, choosing instruments with appropriate maturities or sufficient liquidity to provide sufficient headroom as determined by the abovementioned forecasts.
- iii. The table below analyses the Group's non-derivative financial liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period at the balance sheet date to the contractual maturity date. The amounts disclosed in the table are the contractual undiscounted cash flows.

Non-derivative financial liabilities

	Less than 3 months	Between 3 months and 1 year	Between 1 and 2 years	Between 2 and 5 years	Over 5 years

Long-term borrowings (including current portion)	46,241	151,799	107,271	314,086	85,486

- iv. The Group does not expect the timing of occurrence of the cash flows estimated through the maturity date analysis will be significantly earlier, nor expect the actual cash flow amount will be significantly different.

(3) Fair value information

The carrying amounts of financial instruments not measured at fair value, including cash and cash equivalents, financial assets at amortised cost, notes receivable, accounts receivable, other receivables, guarantee deposits paid, short-term borrowings, notes payable, accounts payable, other payables, long-term borrowings (including current portion) and lease liabilities, are approximate to their fair values.

(4) Impact of Covid-19

Based on the Group's assessment, the Covid-19 pandemic had no significant impact on the Group's operations and financial condition.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of St. Shine Optical Co., Ltd.

We have audited the accompanying parent company only balance sheets of St. Shine Optical Co., Ltd. (the “Company”) as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and the related parent company only statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and notes to the parent company only financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as at December 31, 2022 and 2021, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the parent company only financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountant of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgment, were of most significance in our audit of the Company's 2022 financial statements. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the parent company only financial statements as a whole and, in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Company's 2022 parent company only financial statements are stated as follows:

Key audit matter - Appropriateness of timing of sales revenue recognition

Description

Refer to Note 4(24) for accounting policy on revenue recognition and Note 6(15) for the details of sales revenue.

The Company's revenue is primarily from export of goods. Sales revenue is recognised when the control of the products has transferred to the customers based on the information listed in the export declaration. As the procedures for the timing of revenue recognition involves the manual checking of the status of delivery and related documents, this may lead to some errors in the timing of revenue recognition near the end of the financial reporting date. Thus, we considered the appropriateness of timing of sales revenue recognition as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

1. Obtained an understanding of, assessed and tested management's internal control procedures on revenue recognition, and confirmed whether the related internal controls were reasonable and operating effectively.
2. Performed cut-off test on sales revenue transactions, including checking the order terms, export declaration and delivery information in order to confirm whether the accounting treatment of revenue recognition timing was appropriate.

Key audit matter - Assessment of allowance for inventory valuation losses

Description

Refer to Note 4(11) for the accounting policy on inventory valuation, Note 5 for accounting estimates and assumption uncertainty in relation to inventory valuation, and Note 6(4) for the details of allowance for inventory valuation losses.

The Company is primarily engaged in manufacturing and trading of contact lenses. As the contact lenses market is competitive, frequent releases of new products result in potential price fluctuations and product marginalization in the market. These factors may affect the estimation of the net realisable values of inventories.

The inventories of the Company are measured at the lower of cost and net realisable value, which involves subjective judgment resulting in a high degree of estimation uncertainty. Thus, we considered the assessment of allowance for inventory valuation losses as one of the key audit matters.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures in respect of the above key audit matter:

1. Assessed the reasonableness of provision policies and procedures on allowance for inventory valuation losses, including inventory clearance, the reasonableness of obsolete inventory, and the consistency of accounting estimates.
2. Tested the statements prepared by the Company to verify whether the information that the Company used to calculate inventory valuation loss was consistent with the Company policy, sampled individual part numbers to verify whether the selling price and net realisable value were calculated correctly, and assessed the reasonableness of allowance for inventory valuation losses.
3. Verified the appropriateness of system logic used in the Company's inventory aging reports to confirm whether the information on the reports is consistent with its policies.
4. Selected samples of individual inventory item numbers and checked them against historical data on inventory clearance and discount, compared the samples against prior allowance for inventory valuation losses and referred to subsequent transactions in order to assess the reasonableness of the Company's allowance for inventory valuation losses.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the parent company only financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the parent company only financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these parent company only financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the Standards on Auditing of the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.
2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the parent company only financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the parent company only financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the parent company only financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.

6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our auditors' report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

(1) Compliance statement

The parent company only financial statements of the Company have been prepared in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

(2) Basis of preparation

- A. The parent company only financial statements have been prepared under the historical cost convention, except for defined benefit liabilities recognised based on the net amount of pension fund assets less present value of defined benefit obligation.
- B. The preparation of financial statements requires the use of certain critical accounting estimates. It also requires management to exercise its judgement in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. The areas involving a higher degree of judgement or complexity, or areas where assumptions and estimates are significant to the parent company only financial statements are disclosed in Note 5.

(3) Foreign currency translation

Items included in the parent company only financial statements of each of the Company's entities are measured using the currency of the primary economic environment in which the entity operates (the "functional currency"). The parent company only financial statements are presented in New Taiwan dollars, which is the Company's functional and presentation currency.

A. Foreign currency transactions and balances

- (a) Foreign currency transactions are translated into the functional currency using the exchange rates prevailing at the dates of the transactions or valuation where items are remeasured. Foreign exchange gains and losses resulting from the settlement of such transactions are recognised in profit or loss in the period in which they arise.
- (b) Monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies at the period end are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date. Exchange differences arising upon re-translation at the balance sheet date are recognised in profit or loss.
- (c) Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies held at fair value through profit or loss are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date; their translation differences are recognised in profit or loss. Non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies held at fair value through other comprehensive income are re-translated at the exchange rates prevailing at the balance sheet date; their translation differences are recognised in other comprehensive income. However, non-monetary assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies that are not measured at fair value are translated using the historical exchange rates at the dates of the initial transactions.
- (d) All foreign exchange gains and losses are presented in the statement of comprehensive income within 'other gains and losses'.

B. Translation of foreign operations

- (c) The operating results and financial position of all the group entities that have a functional currency different from the presentation currency are translated into the presentation currency as follows:
 - iv. Assets and liabilities for each balance sheet presented are translated at the closing exchange rate at the date of that balance sheet;
 - v. Income and expenses for each statement of comprehensive income are translated at average exchange rates of that period; and
 - vi. All resulting exchange differences are recognised in other comprehensive income.
- (d) When the foreign operation partially disposed of or sold is a subsidiary, cumulative exchange differences that were recorded in other comprehensive income are proportionately transferred to the non-controlling interest in this foreign operation. In addition, even when the Company retains partial interest in the former foreign subsidiary after losing control of the former foreign subsidiary, such transactions should be accounted for as disposal of all interest in the foreign operation.

(4) Classification of current and non-current items

A. Assets that meet one of the following criteria are classified as current assets:

- (a) Assets arising from operating activities that are expected to be realised, or are intended to be sold or consumed within the normal operating cycle;
- (b) Assets held mainly for trading purposes;
- (c) Assets that are expected to be realised within twelve months from the balance sheet date;
- (d) Cash and cash equivalents, excluding restricted cash and cash equivalents and those that are to be exchanged or used to settle liabilities more than twelve months after the balance sheet date.

Otherwise they are classified as non-current assets.

B. Liabilities that meet one of the following criteria are classified as current liabilities:

- (a) Liabilities that are expected to be settled within the normal operating cycle;
- (b) Liabilities arising mainly from trading activities;
- (c) Liabilities that are to be settled within twelve months from the balance sheet date;
- (d) Liabilities for which the repayment date cannot be extended unconditionally to more than twelve months after the balance sheet date. Terms of a liability that could, at the option of the counterparty, result in its settlement by the issue of equity instruments do not affect its classification.

Otherwise they are classified as non-current liabilities.

(5) Cash equivalents

- A. Cash equivalents refer to short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible to known amounts of cash and which are subject to an insignificant risk of changes in value.
- B. Time deposits that meet the definition above and are held for the purpose of meeting short-term cash commitments in operations are classified as cash equivalents.

(6) Financial assets at amortised cost

- A. Financial assets at amortised cost are those that meet all of the following criteria:
- (a) The objective of the Company's business model is achieved by collecting contractual cash flows.
 - (b) The assets' contractual cash flows represent solely payments of principal and interest.
- B. On a regular way purchase or sale basis, financial assets at amortised cost are recognised and derecognised using settlement date accounting.
- C. At initial recognition, the Company measures the financial assets at fair value plus transaction costs. Interest income from these financial assets is included in finance income using the effective interest method. A gain or loss is recognised in profit or loss when the asset is derecognised or impaired.
- D. The Company's time deposits which do not fall under cash equivalents are those with a short maturity period and are measured at initial investment amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(7) Accounts and notes receivable

- A. Accounts and notes receivable entitle the Company a legal right to receive consideration in exchange for transferred goods or rendered services.
- B. The short-term accounts and notes receivable without bearing interest are subsequently measured at initial invoice amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(8) Impairment of financial assets

For accounts receivable that have a significant financing component, at each balance sheet date, the Company recognises the impairment provision for 12 months expected credit losses if there has not been a significant increase in credit risk since initial recognition or recognises the impairment provision for the lifetime expected credit losses (ECLs) if such credit risk has increased since initial recognition after taking into consideration all reasonable and verifiable information that includes forecasts. On the other hand, for accounts receivable or contract assets that do not contain a significant financing component, the Company recognises the impairment provision for lifetime ECLs.

(9) Derecognition of financial assets

The Company derecognises a financial asset when the contractual rights to receive the cash flows from the financial asset expire.

(10) Leasing arrangements (lessor)—operating leases

Lease income from an operating lease (net of any incentives given to the lessee) is recognised in profit or loss on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

(11) Inventories

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value. Cost is determined using the weighted-average method. The cost of finished goods and work in progress comprises raw materials, direct labor, other direct costs and related production overheads (allocated based on normal operating capacity). It excludes borrowing costs. The item by item approach is used in applying the lower of cost and net realisable value. Net realisable value is the estimated selling price in the ordinary course of business, less the estimated cost of completion and applicable variable selling expenses.

(12) Investments accounted for using equity method/ subsidiaries

- A. Subsidiaries are all entities (including structured entities) controlled by the Company. The Company controls an entity when the Company is exposed, or has rights, to variable returns from its involvement with the entity and has the ability to affect those returns through its power over the entity.
- B. Unrealised gains and losses on the transactions between the Company and its subsidiaries are eliminated. Accounting policies of subsidiaries have been adjusted where necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Company.
- C. The Company's share of its subsidiaries' post-acquisition profits or losses is recognised in profit or loss, and its share of post-acquisition movements in other comprehensive income is recognised in other comprehensive income. When the Company's share of losses in a subsidiary equals or exceeds its interest in the subsidiary, the Company continues to recognise losses in proportion to its ownership.
- D. Pursuant to the Rules Governing the Preparation of Financial Statements by Securities Issuers, profit (loss) of the current period and other comprehensive income in the parent company only financial statements shall equal to the amount attributable to owners of the parent in the consolidated financial statements. Owners' equity in the parent company only financial statements shall equal to equity attributable to owners of the parent in the consolidated financial statements.
- E. Associates are all entities over which the Company has significant influence but not control. In general, it is presumed that the investor has significant influence, if an investor holds, directly or indirectly 20 percent or more of the voting power of the investee. Investments in associates are accounted for using the equity method and are initially recognised at cost.
- F. The Company's share of its associates' post-acquisition profits or losses is recognised in profit or loss, and its share of post-acquisition movements in other comprehensive income is recognised in other comprehensive income. When the Company's share of losses in an associate equals or exceeds its interest in the associate, including any other unsecured receivables, the Company does not recognise further losses, unless it has incurred legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the associate.
- G. When changes in an associate's equity do not arise from profit or loss or other comprehensive income of the associate and such changes do not affect the Company's ownership percentage of the associate, the Company recognises change in ownership interests in the associate in 'capital surplus' in proportion to its ownership.

H. Unrealised gains on transactions between the Company and its associates are eliminated to the extent of the Company's interest in the associates. Unrealised losses are also eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of an impairment of the asset transferred. Accounting policies of associates have been adjusted where necessary to ensure consistency with the policies adopted by the Company.

(13) Property, plant and equipment

- E. Property, plant and equipment are initially recorded at cost. Borrowing costs incurred during the construction period are capitalised.
- F. Subsequent costs are included in the asset's carrying amount or recognised as a separate asset, as appropriate, only when it is probable that future economic benefits associated with the item will flow to the Company and the cost of the item can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. All other repairs and maintenance are charged to profit or loss during the financial period in which they are incurred.
- G. Land is not depreciated. Other property, plant and equipment apply cost model and are depreciated using the straight-line method to allocate their cost over their estimated useful lives. Each part of an item of property, plant, and equipment with a cost that is significant in relation to the total cost of the item must be depreciated separately.
- H. The assets' residual values, useful lives and depreciation methods are reviewed, and adjusted if appropriate, at each financial year-end. If expectations for the assets' residual values and useful lives differ from previous estimates or the patterns of consumption of the assets' future economic benefits embodied in the assets have changed significantly, any change is accounted for as a change in estimate under IAS 8, 'Accounting Policies, Changes in Accounting Estimates and Errors', from the date of the change. The estimated useful lives of property, plant and equipment are as follows:

Buildings	40 ~ 55 years
Machinery and equipment	3 ~ 13 years
Transportation equipment	3 ~ 6 years
Office equipment	4 ~ 6 years
Other equipment	3 ~ 15 years

(14) Leasing arrangements (lessee) - right-of-use assets / lease liabilities

- A. Leases are recognised as a right-of-use asset and a corresponding lease liability at the date at which the leased asset is available for use by the Company. For short-term leases or leases of low-value assets, lease payments are recognised as an expense on a straight-line basis over the lease term.

B. Lease liabilities include the net present value of the remaining lease payments at the commencement date, discounted using the incremental borrowing interest rate. Lease payments are comprised of fixed payments, less any lease incentives receivable.

The Company subsequently measures the lease liability at amortised cost using the interest method and recognises interest expense over the lease term. The lease liability is remeasured and the amount of remeasurement is recognised as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset when there are changes in the lease term or lease payments and such changes do not arise from contract modifications.

C. At the commencement date, the right-of-use asset is stated at cost comprising the following:

- (a) The amount of the initial measurement of lease liability;
- (b) Any lease payments made at or before the commencement date; and
- (c) Any initial direct costs incurred by the lessee.

The right-of-use asset is measured subsequently using the cost model and is depreciated from the commencement date to the earlier of the end of the asset's useful life or the end of the lease term. When the lease liability is remeasured, the amount of remeasurement is recognised as an adjustment to the right-of-use asset.

D. For lease modifications that decrease the scope of the lease, the lessee shall decrease the carrying amount of the right-of-use asset to reflect the partial or full termination of the lease, and recognise the difference between remeasured lease liability in profit or loss.

(15) Intangible assets

Intangible assets, mainly computer software, are amortised on a straight-line basis over their estimated useful lives of 2~20 years.

(16) Impairment of non-financial assets

The Company assesses at each balance sheet date the recoverable amounts of those assets where there is an indication that they are impaired. An impairment loss is recognised for the amount by which the asset's carrying amount exceeds its recoverable amount. The recoverable amount is the higher of an asset's fair value less costs to sell or value in use. When the circumstances or reasons for recognising impairment loss for an asset in prior years no longer exist or diminish, the impairment loss is reversed. The increased carrying amount due to reversal should not be more than what the depreciated or amortised historical cost would have been if the impairment had not been recognised.

(17) Borrowings

Borrowings comprise long-term and short-term bank borrowings. Borrowings are recognised initially at fair value, net of transaction costs incurred. Borrowings are subsequently stated at amortised cost; any difference between the proceeds (net of transaction costs) and the redemption value is recognised in profit or loss over the period of the borrowings using the effective interest method.

(18) Notes and accounts payable

- A. Accounts payable are liabilities for purchases of raw materials, goods or services and notes payable are those resulting from operating and non-operating activities.
- B. The short-term notes and accounts payable without bearing interest are subsequently measured at initial invoice amount as the effect of discounting is immaterial.

(19) Derecognition of financial liabilities

A financial liability is derecognised when the obligation specified in the contract is either discharged or cancelled or expires.

(20) Offsetting financial instruments

Financial assets and liabilities are offset and reported in the net amount in the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(21) Employee benefits

A. Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits are measured at the undiscounted amount of the benefits expected to be paid in respect of service rendered by employees in a period and should be recognised as expense in that period when the employees render service.

B. Pensions

(a) Defined contribution plan

For defined contribution plan, the contributions are recognised as pension expense when they are due on an accrual basis. Prepaid contributions are recognised as an asset to the extent of a cash refund or a reduction in the future payments.

(b) Defined benefit plan

- i. Net obligation under a defined benefit plan is defined as the present value of an amount of pension benefits that employees will receive on retirement for their services with the Company in current period or prior periods. The liability recognised in the balance sheet in respect of defined benefit pension plan is the present value of the defined benefit obligation at the balance sheet date less the fair value of plan assets. The net defined benefit obligation is calculated annually by independent actuaries using the projected unit credit method. The rate used to discount is determined by using interest rates of government bonds (at the balance sheet date) of a currency and term consistent with the currency and term of the employment benefit obligations.
- ii. Remeasurements arising on the defined benefit plan are recognised in other comprehensive income in the period in which they arise and are recorded as retained earnings.
- iii. Past service costs are recognised immediately in profit or loss.

C. Employees' compensation and directors' and supervisors' remuneration

Employees' compensation and directors' and supervisors' remuneration are recognised as expense and liability, provided that such recognition is required under legal or constructive obligation and those amounts can be reliably estimated. Any difference between the resolved amounts and the subsequently actual distributed amounts is accounted for as changes in estimates.

(22) Income tax

- A. The tax expense for the period comprises current and deferred tax. Tax is recognised in profit or loss, except to the extent that it relates to items recognised in other comprehensive income or items recognised directly in equity, in which cases the tax is recognised in other comprehensive income or equity.
- B. The current income tax expense is calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted at the balance sheet date in the countries where the Company operates and generates taxable income. Management periodically evaluates positions taken in tax returns with respect to situations in accordance with applicable tax regulations. It establishes provisions where appropriate based on the amounts expected to be paid to the tax authorities. An additional tax is levied on the unappropriated retained earnings and is recorded as income tax expense in the year the shareholders resolve to retain the earnings.
- C. Deferred tax is recognised, using the balance sheet liability method, on temporary differences arising between the tax bases of assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the parent company only balance sheet. However, the deferred tax is not accounted for if it arises from initial recognition of goodwill or of an asset or liability in a transaction other than a business combination that at the time of the transaction affects neither accounting nor taxable profit or loss. Deferred tax is provided on temporary differences arising on investments in subsidiaries, except where the timing of the reversal of the temporary difference is controlled by the Company and it is probable that the temporary difference will not reverse in the foreseeable future. Deferred tax is determined using tax rates (and laws) that have been enacted or substantially enacted by the balance sheet date and are expected to apply when the related deferred tax asset is realised or the deferred tax liability is settled.
- D. Deferred tax assets are recognised only to the extent that it is probable that future taxable profit will be available against which the temporary differences can be utilised. At each balance sheet date, unrecognised and recognised deferred tax assets are reassessed.
- E. Current income tax assets and liabilities are offset and the net amount reported in the balance sheet when there is a legally enforceable right to offset the recognised amounts and there is an intention to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset on the balance sheet when the entity has the legally enforceable right to offset current tax assets against current tax liabilities and they are levied by the same taxation authority on either the same entity or different entities that intend to settle on a net basis or realise the asset and settle the liability simultaneously.

(23) Dividends

Dividends are recorded in the Company's financial statements in the period in which they are resolved by the Company's Board of Directors. Cash dividends are recorded as liabilities.

(24) Revenue recognition

Sales of goods

- A. The Company manufactures and sells a range of contact lenses. Sales are recognised when control of the products has transferred, being when the products are delivered to the customer, the customer has full discretion over the channel and price to sell the products, and there is no unfulfilled obligation that could affect the customer's acceptance of the products. Delivery occurs when the products have been shipped to the specific location, the risks of obsolescence and loss have been transferred to the customer, and either the customer has accepted the products in accordance with the sales contract, or the Company has objective evidence that all criteria for acceptance have been satisfied.
- B. Revenue from these sales is recognised based on the price specified in the contract, net of the estimated volume discounts and sales discounts and allowances. The sales usually are made with a credit term of 30 to 90 days, which is consistent with market practice. As the time interval between the transfer of committed goods or services and the payment of customer does not exceed one year, the Company does not adjust the transaction price to reflect the time value of money.
- C. A receivable is recognised when the goods are delivered as this is the point in time that the consideration is unconditional because only the passage of time is required before the payment is due.

5. CRITICAL ACCOUNTING JUDGEMENTS, ESTIMATES AND KEY SOURCES OF ASSUMPTION UNCERTAINTY

The preparation of these parent company only financial statements requires management to make critical judgements in applying the Company's accounting policies and make critical assumptions and estimates concerning future events. Assumptions and estimates may differ from the actual results and are continually evaluated and adjusted based on historical experience and other factors. Such assumptions and estimates have a significant risk of causing a material adjustment to the carrying amounts of assets and liabilities within the next financial year; and the related information is addressed below:

Critical accounting estimates and assumptions - evaluation of inventories

As inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realisable value, the Company must determine the net realisable value of inventories on balance sheet date using judgements and estimates. The Company evaluates the amounts of normal inventory consumption, obsolete inventories or inventories without market selling value on balance sheet date, and writes down the cost of inventories to the net realisable value. Such an evaluation of inventories is principally based on the demand for the products within the specified period in the future. Therefore, there might be material changes to the evaluation.

As of December 31, 2022, the carrying amount of inventories was $1,327,345.

(d) The Bank of Taiwan was commissioned to manage the Fund of the Company's defined benefit pension plan in accordance with the Fund's annual investment and utilisation plan and the "Regulations for Revenues, Expenditures, Safeguard and Utilisation of the Labor Retirement Fund" (Article 6: The scope of utilisation for the Fund includes deposit in domestic or foreign financial institutions, investment in domestic or foreign listed, over-the-counter, or private placement equity securities, investment in domestic or foreign real estate securitisation products, etc.). With regard to the utilisation of the Fund, its minimum earnings in the annual distributions on the final financial statements shall be no less than the earnings attainable from the amounts accrued from two-year time deposits with the interest rates offered by local banks. If the earnings is less than aforementioned rates, government shall make payment for the deficit after being authorised by the Regulator. The Company has no right to participate in managing and operating that fund and hence the Company is unable to disclose the classification of plan assets fair value in accordance with IAS 19 paragraph 142. (e) The principal actuarial assumptions used were as follows:

	For the years ended December 31,
	2022	2021
Discount rate	1.30%	0.70%
Future salary increases rate	3.00%	3.00%

Future mortality rate was estimated based on the 6th Taiwan Standard Ordinary Experience Mortality Table.

Because the main actuarial assumption changed, the present value of defined benefit obligation is affected. The analysis was as follows:

	Discount rate		Future salary increases rate
	Increase 0.25%	Decrease 0.25%	Increase 0.25%	Decrease 0.25%
December 31, 2022
Effect on present value of defined benefit obligation	($ 3,673)	$ 3,804	$ 3,363	($ 3,270)
December 31, 2021
Effect on present value of defined benefit obligation	($ 4,394)	$ 4,563	$ 4,047	($ 3,927)

The sensitivity analysis above is based on one assumption which changed while the other conditions remain unchanged. In practice, more than one assumption may change all at once. The method of analysing sensitivity and the method of calculating net pension liability in the balance sheet are the same.

The methods and types of assumptions used in preparing the sensitivity analysis did not change compared to the previous period.

	$ 94,174

(1) Capital management

The Company's objectives when managing capital are to safeguard the Company's ability to continue as a going concern in order to provide returns for shareholders and to maintain an optimal capital structure to reduce the cost of capital. In order to maintain or adjust the capital structure, the Company may adjust the amount of dividends paid to shareholders, return capital to shareholders, issue new shares or sell assets to reduce debt. The Company monitors capital on the basis of the gearing ratio. This ratio is calculated as total borrowings divided by total capital. Total borrowings is calculated as 'current and non-current borrowings' as shown in the parent company only balance sheet. Total capital is calculated as equity as shown in the parent company only balance sheet plus total borrowings.

During the year ended December 31, 2022, the Company's strategy, which was unchanged from 2021, was to maintain the gearing ratio within a stable range. The gearing ratios at December 31, 2022 and 2021 were as follows:

B. Financial risk management policies

- (a) The Company's activities expose it to a variety of financial risks: market risk (including foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk and price risk), credit risk and liquidity risk.

- (b) Risk management is carried out by the Company's treasury department ("Company treasury") under policies approved by the Board of Directors. Company treasury identifies, evaluates and hedges financial risks in close cooperation with the Company's operating department. The Company provides written principles for overall risk management, as well as written policies covering specific areas and matters, such as foreign exchange risk, interest rate risk, credit risk, use of non-derivative financial instruments, and investment of excess liquidity.

C. Significant financial risks and degrees of financial risks

(a) Market risk

Foreign exchange risk

- i. The Company operates internationally and is exposed to foreign exchange risk arising from the transactions of the Company used in various functional currency, primarily with respect to the USD. Foreign exchange risk arises from future commercial transactions and recognised assets and liabilities.
- ii. Management has set up a policy to require entities to manage their foreign exchange risk against their functional currency. The companies are required to hedge their entire foreign exchange risk exposure with the Company treasury.
- iii. The Company's businesses involve some non-functional currency operations. The information on assets denominated in foreign currencies whose values would be materially affected by the exchange rate fluctuations is as follows:

Cash flow and fair value interest rate risk

- i. The Company's main interest rate risk arises from long-term borrowings with variable rates, which expose the Company to cash flow interest rate risk. During 2022 and 2021, the Company's borrowings at variable rate were mainly denominated in New Taiwan dollars.
- ii. The Company's borrowings are measured at amortised cost. The borrowings are periodically contractually repriced and to that extent are also exposed to the risk of future changes in market interest rates.
- iii. If the borrowing interest rate of New Taiwan dollars had increased/decreased by 1% with all other variables held constant, profit before tax for the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021 would have decreased/increased by $4,948 and $6,867, respectively. The main factor is that changes in interest expense result from floating rate borrowings.

(b) Credit risk

- i. Credit risk refers to the risk of financial loss to the Company arising from default by the clients or counterparties of financial instruments on the contract obligations. The main factor is that counterparties could not repay in full the accounts receivable based on the agreed terms.
- ii. The Company manages its credit risk taking into consideration the entire entity's concern. According to the Company's credit policy, each operating department in the Company is responsible for managing and analysing the credit risk for each of the new clients before standard payment and delivery terms and conditions are offered. Internal risk control assesses the credit quality of the customers, taking into account their financial position, past experience and other factors. Individual risk limits are set based on internal or external ratings in accordance with limits set by the Board of Directors. The utilisation of credit limits is regularly monitored.

- iii. The Company adopts the assumption under IFRS 9, that is, the default occurs when the contract payments are past due over 180 days.
- iv. If the contract payments were past due over 30 days based on the terms, there has been a significant increase in credit risk on that instrument since initial recognition.
- v. The Company classifies customer's accounts receivable in accordance with customer types. The Company applies the simplified approach using the provision matrix and loss rate methodology to estimate expected credit loss.
- vi. The Company wrote-off the financial assets, which cannot reasonably be expected to be recovered, after initiating recourse procedures. However, the Company will continue executing the recourse procedures to secure their rights.
- vii.(i) The Company used the forecastability of global economic information to adjust historical and timely information to assess the default possibility of notes and accounts receivable arising from general credit rating customers. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the provision matrix is as follows:

December 31, 2022
	Not past due	1-30 days past due	31-60 days past due	61-90 days past due	91-180 days past due	Over 181 days past due	Total

Loss allowance	1,300	1,465	4,222	2,107	-	652	9,746

December 31, 2021
	Not past due	1-30 days past due	31-60 days past due	61-90 days past due	91-180 days past due	Over 181 days past due	Total

Loss allowance	4,614	4,144	935	1,536	719	672	12,620

- (ii) The Company individually assesses the customers that have low credit rating and default. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the carrying amount of accounts receivable with low credit rating amounted to $14,550 and $16,003, respectively, therefore, the Company provided loss allowance amounting to $14,550 and $16,003, respectively.
- (iii) The Company assessed notes receivable from customers individually. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the carrying amount of notes receivable and provision for loss allowance amounted to $4,494 and $3,983, $0 and $12, respectively.

- (iv) The Company assessed other receivables from sales-related customers based on the loss rate. As of December 31, 2022 and 2021, the total carrying amount of other receivables and provision for loss allowance amounted to $1,094 and $3,353, $243 and $0, respectively.
- viii. Movements in relation to the Company applying the simplified approach to provide loss allowance for notes, accounts and other receivables are as follows:

At January 1	$ 12	$ 28,623	$ -	$ 28,635

At December 31	$ 12	$ 28,623	$ -	$ 28,635

For the years ended December 31, 2022 and 2021, the expected credit impairment gain on notes, accounts and other receivables arising from customers' contracts amounted to $4,096 and $21,110, respectively.

(c) Liquidity risk

- Cash flow forecasting is performed in the operating departments of the Company and aggregated by Company treasury. Company treasury monitors rolling forecasts of the Company's liquidity requirements to ensure it has sufficient cash to meet operational needs and liabilities at maturity.
- Company treasury invests surplus cash in interest bearing current accounts and time deposits, choosing instruments with appropriate maturities or sufficient liquidity to provide sufficient headroom as determined by the abovementioned forecasts.
- The table below analyses the Company's non-derivative financial liabilities into relevant maturity groupings based on the remaining period at the balance sheet date to the contractual maturity date. The amounts disclosed in the table are the contractual undiscounted cash flows.
