Uncertainty in MUST's submarkets...

U.S. cities gravitate around similar positions on the clock due to similar macroeconomic conditions

Independent Market Report (IMR) 1H 2022*

Mixed leasing signals in MUST's submarkets

Longer leases signed despite declining volume

Rising base rents tempered by rising concessions

Concession packages remain high

Subleasing rises as firms reassess space needs

Hybrid work is here to stay

Fewer people, smaller spaces

1) Where are the workers?

- Physical occupancy in U.S. ~44.7%, led by sun belt cities¹
- Pre-COVID-19, ~10% WFH. New normal, ~20% WFH, ~40% WFO, ~40% Hybrid model²

2) Do we need all the space?

- Downsizing by large tenants who have been in buildings for a long time
- Hybrid model is changing work culture and space needs

U.S. 10 city average occupancy

Hybrid work expectations

Hotelisation of office could be the new normal

Flexible work

Flexible space

Winning formula

- Offices with premium amenities in great locations will attract tenants
- Tenants prefer flexibility, option to expand/contract as needed
- Fewer dedicated workstations, more versatile spaces and experiential offerings
- JLL expects 30%¹ of office to be flex space
- Formulating the optimal mix of traditional, flex and turnkey space

Static lease,

Tomorrow
Flexible lease,

What does this mean for MUST?

Turning portfolio attributes into opportunities

Provide flexible office solutions

- Partnering with best-in-class flex operators, e.g. Flex by JLL

Shortlist assets to embark on hotelisation

- Trophy/Class A assets allow opportunities to reinvent office space
- Attract quality tenants
- Remain competitive and command premium rents

On-going exploratory ideas: Michelson

- Tallest building in locale
- Reassert Trophy status by introducing new concepts/amenities to command higher rents
 - Explore leasing rooftop to F&B
 - Introduce outdoor chill out zones
 - Convert low floors into amenities (lounge, gym)

MUST's submarket outlook

Portland: Sunset Corridor's critical employers in high-growth sectors and proximity to infrastructure buffer against slow leasing

Sacramento: Counter-cyclical sectors (government, health, regulatory) support fundamentals, but limited investment in new space hinder new-to-market relocation

Los Angeles: Creative sector driving demand through vintage asset conversion; slow leasing and flight to quality among other sectors

Orange County: Accelerated leasing from diverse sectors and 12-year low unemployment insulate it from recession

Phoenix: Tempe, Chandler attracting new-to-market tenants in finance, tech, professional services; tapering supply helps fundamentals

Northern New Jersey: Office market stabilising, but face talent migration to lower-cost areas and competition with New York City

Washington, D.C.: Slow return-to-office, downsizing, relocations drive negative absorption, tempered by office conversions and reduced pipeline

Northern Virginia: Strong recovery in aerospace, defence sectors and limited new supply buoy recovery

Atlanta: Buckhead, Midtown submarkets see strong demand for Trophy, Class A space
