Rosenbauer, a leading manufacturer of fire fighting vehicles, has once again received a major order from the Saudi Arabian Ministry of the Interior, this time to supply 140 tank fire-fighters worth a total of around 41.3 Mio US-Dollar. The operator of Saudi Arabia's fire departments is the national "Civil Defence" organization.

The order is for GTLF pumper trucks which are to be used for the provision of extinguishant water and for fire-fighting assistance in Saudi Arabia. The vehicles are to be manufactured at the main plant in Leonding and supplied to the client in several part-deliveries by the middle of 2012.

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia trusts in quality products from Rosenbauer. Rosenbauer had previously seen off fierce international competition in 2008 and 2009 to win the Saudi Arabian Ministry of the Interior's tender for the supply of 340 fire fighting vehicles. In recent years, Rosenbauer has supplied more than 1,500 vehicles to various clients in Saudi Arabia.

"The successes of the past few years confirm that with its determined international focus, the Rosenbauer Group is definitely on the right track. This latest new order gives us a very sound basis for the next two years", says Julian Wagner, President and CEO of the Executive Board of Rosenbauer International AG.
